Contents

1 Sounds .................................................. 1
   1.1 A Stress Shift in a *Triplet of Trisyllables ............. 1
   1.2 Adjectival Stress on the Wrong Syllable .................. 2
   1.3 Aphaeresis Engulfs Tsunami ................................ 6
   1.4 Barbarisms ............................................. 7
   1.5 Déjà vu—Not! ........................................... 9
   1.6 Der Untergang des Abendlandes ............................ 9
   1.7 Espying the Spondaic Anapest, Absolutely ................ 10
   1.8 Female Nasalization: An Apotropaism? .................... 11
   1.9 Form Follows Function (1): Verb/Noun Stress Alternation . 12
   1.10 Form Follows Function (2): Vowel Alternation ............ 14
   1.11 Friends in France (A Vowel Merger) ..................... 15
   1.12 Girlized Intonation ..................................... 16
   1.13 Glottally Catching the Football ........................... 17
   1.14 Going to Rack and Ruin in the ‘Stans .................... 18
   1.15 Goslings in Oslo (Medial s before Liquids) .............. 21
   1.16 Homage to Ignorance .................................... 23
   1.17 Idiosyncratic Pronunciations: Tone-Deafness? ............ 24
   1.18 Ignorance and the Insistence of the Letter ............... 25
   1.19 Intrusive r (A Sandhi Phenomenon) ....................... 26
   1.20 Japanese Prosody and Its Distortion in English .......... 27
   1.21 Lambasting the Oblivion of Constituent Structure ....... 28
   1.22 Lenition, Not Voicing ................................... 29
   1.23 Linguistic Solipsism ..................................... 32
   1.24 Manhattan ............................................... 33
   1.25 Molière Redivivus ....................................... 33
   1.26 Morphophonemics of Nominal Derivation: British Versus American English ........................................ 35
   1.27 O tempora, o mores! (Isoglosses) ......................... 37
   1.28 Obama and Bush: A Shared Departure from the Linguistic Norm .................................................. 38

xv
1.29 Paronomastic Interference in Language Change .................. 41
1.30 The “Pin/Pen Merger:” An Example of Neutralization .......... 43
1.31 Reading Pronunciations ....................................... 44
1.32 Rethinking Phonetic Variation (str→ftr) .......................... 45
1.33 Rhymes with Pomeranian ........................................ 47
1.34 Router ...................................................................... 48
1.35 Sosal Sicurity (alias Social Security) .............................. 49
1.36 Sound and Sense in a Language’s Bauplan ......................... 52
1.37 Sound over Sense and the Iconic Impulse .......................... 53
1.38 Stylistics of the Alveolar Flap .................................... 53
1.39 Ten Thousand Untruths .............................................. 54
1.40 Teutonisms as Barbarisms .......................................... 56
1.41 The Fading of Oral Tradition ...................................... 58
1.42 The Hidden Homophony in ‘Icon(ic)’ .............................. 59
1.43 The Ideology of Vowel Reduction ................................... 59
1.44 The Pentagon in Maryland (Sandhi and Prosody) ............... 61
1.45 The Pronunciation of Beijing ....................................... 63
1.46 The Temperature in February (Dejotation) ......................... 64
1.47 Variation in the Stress of Quadrisyllables ......................... 65
1.48 Verbal Proprioception .............................................. 66
1.49 Voiceless Vowels and Vowel Loss .................................. 67
1.50 Yiddishized Enumerative Intonation .............................. 68
1.51 A Peculiar Case of Metathesis ([æks] < [æsk]) .................... 69
1.52 The Alveolar Flap and Secondary Stress ........................... 70
1.53 Prosody and Emphasis .............................................. 71
1.54 Speaking Like One’s Fellows (f.) .................................. 72
1.55 Foreign Accents and Their Perception .............................. 73
1.56 Palatalization Across Word Boundaries ......................... 74
1.57 Accent as Entrée ..................................................... 76
1.58 Islands of Englessness in Seas of Normativity .................... 76
1.59 Vocal Timbre and Authoritative Speech .......................... 77
1.60 The Dictionary Errs (Rhymes with Purrs) ........................ 79
1.61 A Variation on Free Variation ...................................... 80
1.62 Sound-Sense Alignment of Word Class (Interjections) ........... 80
1.63 Secondary Stress and Constituent Structure ....................... 82
1.64 Phonetic Indicators of Word Unity ................................ 84
1.65 Slave to Ignorance .................................................. 86
1.66 Syncope in Consonant Clusters .................................... 86
1.67 An Alternate Intonational Contour in Sentences with the Vocative ......................................................... 88
1.68 Degrees of Linguistic Self-Awareness (Anosognosia) ............. 89
1.69 A Unique Case of Vowel Harmony in English (lambaste) ....... 90
1.70 Latino and Its Linguistic Congeners ................................ 91
1.71 Adjectival Derivation (anent short- and long-lived) ............... 93
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>1.72 The Fading of Oral Transmission of Linguistic Norms</td>
<td>94</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.73 The Stress of Foreign Nomina Propria (Kiev, Ukraine)</td>
<td>95</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.74 The Function of Phonetic Ellipses (Syncope and Voiceless Vowels)</td>
<td>96</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.75 Tenues and Mediae in English</td>
<td>98</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.76 The Mangling of French by Speakers of American English</td>
<td>101</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.77 Assertion Sub Rosa (Lengthening of Clause-Final Unstressed Syllables in Female Speech)</td>
<td>102</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.78 Mispronunciations in Ersatz English (colleague)</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.79 Unstressed Vowels and the Demoticization of Vocabulary (synod, ebola)</td>
<td>103</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.80 Language and Prestige (The Erroneous Pronunciation of err)</td>
<td>105</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.81 False Analogy (inherent[ly])</td>
<td>106</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.82 The Stress of Adverbialized Prepositional Phrases</td>
<td>107</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.83 Of Eths and Thorns</td>
<td>108</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.84 Hypermetrical Stress for Emphasis in Adverbs</td>
<td>110</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.85 Desyllabication of /n/ in Consonant Clusters</td>
<td>111</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>1.86 Vowel Syncope and Its Functions</td>
<td>112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.1 ‘Virtuous’ Redefined</td>
<td>115</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.2 An Embarrassment of Onomastic Riches</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.3 Associative Meaning Fields: Interlingual Gaps and Overlaps</td>
<td>117</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.4 Bad Guys</td>
<td>119</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.5 Clichés: Corpses from the Necropolis of Dead Metaphors</td>
<td>120</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.6 Discontinuous Lexica and Linguistic Competence</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.7 DO, v., Trans.</td>
<td>124</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.8 Enjoy! Whatever … (Calques)</td>
<td>125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.9 Good Work ≠ Good Job</td>
<td>126</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.10 Infantilization of Lexis</td>
<td>127</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.11 Issues ≠ Problems</td>
<td>128</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.12 It’s Chinese to Me</td>
<td>129</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.13 Just Semantics</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.14 *Magnimonious Poster Childs</td>
<td>130</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.15 Memoirs (plural tantum)</td>
<td>131</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.16 Of Proofs in Puddings and Roosters in Cabbage Soup</td>
<td>132</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.17 The Linguistic Ecology of the Proverb</td>
<td>133</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.18 Running the Show</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.19 Semantic Contamination</td>
<td>134</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.20 The Evisceration of Meaning</td>
<td>135</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.21 The Jazzification of Musical Terminology</td>
<td>136</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.22 The Last Straw</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.23 The Onomastic Infantilization of Females</td>
<td>137</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.24 The Vocabulary of Self-Delusion</td>
<td>138</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Section</td>
<td>Page</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>------------------------------------------------------------------------</td>
<td>------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.25 What’s in a Name?</td>
<td>139</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.26 Willy-Nilly</td>
<td>141</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.27 “You’re Correct:” Hyperurbanism as Hypertrophy</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.28 Anglo-Saxon vs. Latinate: The Semantics of Verbal Inanition</td>
<td>143</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.29 Conflation via Opacity of Constituent Structure</td>
<td>144</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.30 Emotive Force and the Sense of Form (Balaam’s Ass)</td>
<td>145</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.31 The Significance of Spontaneous Back-Formations</td>
<td>147</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.32 Moldiferate, v., intr. (Portmanteau Words)</td>
<td>148</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.33 Disfluent like: Toward A Typology</td>
<td>149</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.34 A Grammatical Hyperurbanism</td>
<td>150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.35 Etymology, Re-Cognition, and Knowledge</td>
<td>151</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.36 The Fixed Distribution of Synonyms in Idioms</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.37 Pity and Its Lexical Congeners</td>
<td>152</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.38 Seeing Is Not Hearing</td>
<td>154</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.39 Multiple, Not Many: The Irruption of Bookishness</td>
<td>155</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.40 American vs. British Versions of Idioms</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.41 The Vogue for Portmanteau Words (Stupravity)</td>
<td>156</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.42 Exactly Wrong</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.43 ‘Atrocity’, Not ‘Tragedy’</td>
<td>157</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.44 Hic Sunt Leones</td>
<td>158</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.45 The Frenchification of Spanish Words in English (Chávez)</td>
<td>159</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.46 Iconicity in Action (Singulative Deverbal Nouns)</td>
<td>160</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.47 Generational Slippage in the Retention of Obsolescent Vocabulary</td>
<td>161</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.48 Terms of Affection and Their Gradience</td>
<td>163</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.49 The Rise of multiple as a Substitute for many</td>
<td>164</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.50 Misuse of the Word Gentleman</td>
<td>165</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.51 Lost in Transliteration (Russian Hypocoristics in English)</td>
<td>166</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.52 Hypertrophic Emphasis in Neology (begrudgingly)</td>
<td>167</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.53 Attenuation of Arbitrariness in the Semantics of Quantification</td>
<td>168</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.54 Well and Good (anent “I’m good”)</td>
<td>169</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.55 Words in Desuetude</td>
<td>170</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.56 The Supersessionist Drift of American English</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.57 “Going Forward” (The Triumph of Agency)</td>
<td>171</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.58 Etymology as Present Knowledge</td>
<td>172</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.59 “Heiße Magister, heiße Doktor gar” (Goethe, Faust, Pt. 1, “Night”)</td>
<td>174</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.60 Stomping Ground (Folk Etymology)</td>
<td>175</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.61 Words Qualified and Contrasted</td>
<td>176</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.62 The Lure of Latin (Sherlock Holmes and the Science of Abduction)</td>
<td>177</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>2.63 The Mentality of a Neologism (game-changer)</td>
<td>180</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2.64 The Supersession of Literal Meaning (Incredibly, Unbelievably) ........................................ 181
2.65 Twerk: An Etymology ........................................ 182
2.66 Cultural Differences in the Reception of the Graeco-Roman Patrimony ........................................... 183
2.67 Sound as an Icon of Sense (meld) ......................... 186
2.68 Ideology and Semantic Change (sex and gender) ........ 188
2.69 World View and Untranslatability (The Case of Yiddish) ..... 189
2.70 Sinning Against Usage (Dead Last, but Flat Broke) ........ 190
2.71 Phrase, Not Term ............................................ 191
2.72 Barba non facit philosophum (The Power of Proverbs) .... 191
2.73 Irrefragably! ................................................. 192
2.74 A Semantico-Syntactic Portmanteau (Enjoy!) ................ 193
2.75 Back-Formation and the Drift toward Linguistic HypERTrophy in American English ...................... 194
2.76 The Frisson of Etymological Discovery ................. 195
2.77 The Markedness of the Female Sex ....................... 196
2.78 Pluralia Tantum and Their Contemporary Misconstrual ..... 197
2.79 The Vocative and Its Functions in Discourse ................... 198
2.80 Word Length and Emphasis (incredibly). ................ 199
2.81 Ticastic so ................................................. 199
2.82 Russian Patronymics .......................................... 200
2.83 When OnlyLearnèd (Recondite, Recherché) Words Will Do .................................................... 201

3 Style ........................................................................ 203
3.1 Form as Part of Content (ad Antimetabole et al.) ............ 203
3.2 Absolutely the All-Purpose Emphatic ........................... 204
3.3 Androgyny and the Feminization of Male Speech .......... 205
3.4 At the End of the Day ........................................... 206
3.5 Catachresis ..................................................... 207
3.6 Fatuity and the Phatic .......................... 208
3.7 Fatuous Bookishness (“That Said,” etc.) .................... 209
3.8 Geekish so Aggrandized .......................... 209
3.9 Gratias otiosae sunt odiosae .......................... 210
3.10 Heterolingual Interpolations (Latin Phrases) .............. 211
3.11 Imperfect Learning ........................................ 212
3.12 In a Shambles ............................................. 213
3.13 Just Plain Folks ............................................. 214
3.14 Let Me Be Clear ........................................... 216
3.15 No(t a) Problem ............................................ 217
3.16 On the Ground, Boots and All ..................................... 218
3.17 Paralinguistic (Mis)behavior .............................. 218
3.18 Pauses between Words ..................................... 219
3.19 Phonostylistics .................................. 219
3.20 Please in the Passive Voice ...................... 220
3.21 Pleonasms and Other Hypertrophies .............. 221
3.22 Poetic Consciousness and the Language of Thought 227
3.23 Profanity in the Age of Depravity ................. 229
3.24 Superfluous Syndeton ............................ 229
3.25 The Connotative Content of Regional Accents ...... 230
3.26 The Linguistic Acknowledgment of Human Identity 230
3.27 The (We)Evil of Banality ........................ 231
3.28 Tinkering with Idioms Through Contamination .... 232
3.29 Stylistic Retention of Unproductive Stress Patterns 232
3.30 Metaphors We Die by (Metaphorically) .......... 234
3.31 The Function of Hieratic Diction (Smite, Smote, Smitten) 235
3.32 Eloquence as Power ............................. 236
3.33 Linguistic Self-indulgence and Meaning by Indirection 237
3.34 Words as Acts (The Cultural Context) ............. 237
3.35 Idiomaticity (Anent Freedom and Constraint in Language Use) 238
3.36 Forms of Address (The Dignity of Namelessness) .... 239
3.37 Cacoglossia (Broken English) .................... 240
3.38 Rife with Error (Extemporaneous Speech) ........ 241
3.39 Über die Motive des menschlichen Handelns (‘On the Motives of Human Behavior’) ................. 242
3.40 Linguistic Decorum and the Meliorative Function of Language ........................................... 243
3.41 Language as an Aesthetic Object .................... 244
3.42 The Promiscuousness of Irony as a Rhetorical Label 245
3.43 Adjusting Speech to the Linguistic Competence of One’s Interlocutor(s) ............................. 246
3.44 The Decline of Straight Talk and the Rise of Linguistic Dross ........................................... 247
3.45 Colloquialism as Emphasis (“ain’t”) ................. 248
3.46 A Case of Linguistic Atavism (“Kick the Can Down the Road”) ....................................... 249
3.47 Annoying Speech Mannerisms ...................... 250
3.48 Variable Forms of Address as an Indicator of Social Instability ........................................... 251
3.49 Affectation as Incipient Sound Change ............. 252
3.50 Prior to Instead of Before: A Hyperurbanism .... 252
3.51 “That’s a (Really) Great/Good/Interesting Question” 253
3.52 The Communicative Upshot of Uptalk ............... 254
3.53 The Perils of Propitiation in Female Speech ......... 256
3.54 Grades of Well-Formedness in Language (Cacoglossia) 257
3.55 Linguistic Slovenliness as a Failure of Thought ..... 258
3.56 Linguistic Tokens and Grammatical Opacity (“You’re Welcome.”) ........................................ 258
3.57 You Are What You Say (Verbal Tics) ........................................ 260
3.58 Emphasis in Spoken English and Its Abuse ........................................ 261
3.59 Linguistic Formulas and Sincerity (“Thanks for Asking.”) ........................................ 262
3.60 The Emotive Use of Dialectal or Non-standard Speech .......................... 263
3.61 Auto- and Hetero-Referential so ........................................ 263
3.62 The Tyranny of Usage—Literally (Ahem!) ........................................ 264
3.63 Ideology and Grammatical Error (The Feminine Pronouns) .................. 265
3.64 Gender-Specific Designations of Human Referents: Vacillations in Usage ........................................ 266
3.65 Ersatz English ........................................ 267
3.66 Fossilized Speech and Its Episodic Disinterment (“во дни тягостных Раздумий О Судьбах моей Родины”) ........................................ 268
3.67 Epenthetic N (Neither…Nor) ........................................ 269
3.68 Macaronic Language (A Contemporary Specimen) ........................................ 271
3.69 Latin as the Verbal Weapon of Choice in English ........................................ 272
3.70 Metalinguistic Commentary in Conversation (Error and Normativity in Speech) ........................................ 273
3.71 Basically the Englishes ........................................ 273
3.72 Contraction in Language and Its Stylistic Dimension ........................................ 274
3.73 Speaking like a Native (When the Spirit Moves One) ........................................ 275
3.74 Non-pathological Agrammatism ........................................ 276
3.75 Paralinguistic Differences Between the Sexes ........................................ 277
3.76 Normativity, Habit, and Willful Mistakes ........................................ 278

4 Syntax ........................................ 279
4.1 Different(ly) From/Than ........................................ 279
4.2 ‘Head For’ Versus ‘Head To’ ........................................ 281
4.3 Anaphora ........................................ 283
4.4 Back-Formation of Compound Verbs ........................................ 284
4.5 Derived Compound Adjectives: gesunkenes Kulturgut? ........................................ 285
4.6 Discourse-Introductory so in Geekish ........................................ 285
4.7 Explaining ‘Advocate For’ ........................................ 287
4.8 Fear of the Objective Case ........................................ 288
4.9 Hypertrophic Designations of Past Time: Avoidance of Placeless Existence? ........................................ 289
4.10 “I Could Care Less;” A Conundrum Answered ........................................ 291
4.11 Incorrect Rection ........................................ 291
4.12 Passage Out of Passivity ........................................ 293
4.13 Pleonastically Extruded Adjectives ........................................ 294
4.14 Pluriverbation (Skill Set, Data Point) ........................................ 294
4.15 Pronominal Prosopopoeia ........................................ 296
4.16 Syntactic Idioms and Imperfect Learning ........................................ 297
4.17 The Reality Is ........................................ 297
4.18 Triumph of the Ungrammatical ........................................ 298
4.19 Truncated Postpositions .............................................. 299
4.20 The Emotive Value of Transitivization ............................. 300
4.21 Leaning Obama, Voting Romney ..................................... 301
4.22 Element Order and the Grammar of the Second Amendment ... 301
4.23 “It’s OK By Me” As a Syntactic Calque ............................ 303
4.24 The Vanishing Article in Phraseologisms ......................... 303
4.25 A Case of Pleonasm Syntactically Diagrammatized .............. 304
4.26 The Case of the Missing Postposition (“Thanks for Having Me.”) ......................................................... 305
4.27 The Ethical Dative, Lost But Not Forgotten ..................... 306
4.28 Baring the Grammatical Underbelly of a Hypercorrection ...... 308
4.29 Absence of Number Concord in Subject-Predicate Grammar .... 309
4.30 Adjectival Government ............................................... 310
4.31 The Tension Between Grammar and Praxis ...................... 311
4.32 Hypertrophic Prepositional Complements of Verbs .......... 312

5 Theory .............................................................................. 315
5.1 Horror Silentii .............................................................. 315
5.2 Addiction to “Air Quotes” ............................................... 316
5.3 Basically, the Attenuation of Assertory Force .................. 316
5.4 Diachrony in Synchrony: Archaisms ............................... 318
5.5 Epiphenomena of Language Use (Nonce Forms) .............. 319
5.6 Error Magnified and Exacerbated .................................. 320
5.7 Error, a Natural History ............................................... 320
5.8 Estrangement by Colloquialism ...................................... 321
5.9 Failures of Thought ...................................................... 322
5.10 Homo Figurans, Not Sapiens ........................................ 323
5.11 Iconism and Learned Plurals ....................................... 323
5.12 Leveling Out the Ablaut Pattern in Strong Verbs .......... 325
5.13 Norm, System, Usage, and the Metalinguistic Function .... 327
5.14 Norms and Correctness .............................................. 328
5.15 Professional Argots ..................................................... 329
5.16 Repetition ................................................................. 330
5.17 Stammering as a Cultural Datum .................................. 331
5.18 Three, Not Two .......................................................... 332
5.19 The Meretriciousness of Economy of Effort as Explanans ... 333
5.20 Residual Dialectisms as Shibboleths .............................. 334
5.21 Linguistic Anaesthetics .............................................. 335
5.22 The Pragmatistic Force of Analogy in Language Structure (Homage à Raimo Anttila) ........................................ 336
5.23 Differential Consciousness of Language ......................... 337
5.24 Zero, Nil, and the Philological Method ............................ 338
5.25 Nicht alles geht nach Regeln (contra Kant) ....................... 339
5.26 Style Reconceived (Toward a Global Theory) ................. 340
5.27 The Variability of Inner Speech .............................................. 344
5.28 The Prowess of Systemzwang .................................................. 344
5.29 Cultural Cachinnation as a Paralinguistic Phenomenon .................. 345
5.30 Markedness, Tense-Number Syncretism, and the Etiolation of the Subjunctive .................................................. 346
5.31 Nominalism and Realism in Linguistics from a Neostructuralist Perspective .................................................. 348
5.32 Metanalysis as Explanans of a Common Solecism (*Between You and I) .................................................. 351
5.33 Diagrams and Diagrammatization in Language .................................. 354
5.34 Drift as the Triumph of the Iconic in Language Change (less vs. fewer) .................................................. 356
5.35 Grammar as Fundament of Thought and Knowledge ......................... 358
5.36 The Uniqueness of Human Language: Meaning by Indirection ............... 360
5.37 Swimming in Semeiosis .......................................................... 360
5.38 Is There a Logic of Linguistic Error? ........................................... 362
5.39 Style as Troping ................................................................. 363
5.40 Statistical Norms of Speech Production .................................. 370
5.41 Harmony, Linguistic and Musical .............................................. 370
5.42 A Heraclitean Gloss on the Nature of Speech .................................. 372
5.43 Accent and Dialect Differentiated ............................................. 373
5.44 Prestige and Language Change .................................................. 374
5.45 Of Twits, Twitters, and Tweaks (Sound-Sense Parallelism as Explanans) .................................................. 376
5.46 Language as a Template for the Conceptualization of Reality ............... 378
5.47 Productive but Wrong (Childish Linguistic Errors) ......................... 379
5.48 The Metalinguistic Function (Free Variation and Self-Correction) .......... 381
5.49 Homo habilis and Language: Linguistic Theory as a Theory of Habit .......... 382
5.50 Habit, Consciousness, and the Rule of Grammar ............................ 384

6 Poetics ............................................................................ 387
6.1 Poetry—Not! .................................................................. 387
6.2 Rhyme and Its Impact ......................................................... 389
6.3 The Genius of the Mot Juste ...................................................... 391
6.4 Latter-Day Homage to Pushkin: A Linguistic Exemplum .................... 393
6.5 Sprig of Palestine .................................................................. 395
6.6 The Poetic Frisson of Archaism .................................................. 397
6.7 “Was unterscheidet Götter von Menschen?” .................................. 399
6.8 When Animals Speak (Gender in Fables) ....................................... 400
6.9 A Possible Metrical Substrate for a Phraseological Cliché (“Exactly Right”) .................................................. 404
6.10 The Power of Prosody (“Please exit through the rear door.”) ....................................... 405
6.11 The Metrical Substrate of a Phraseological Cliché II (“At the End of the Day”) ......................... 406

7 The Psycholinguistic Pathos of Everyday Life. ................................................................. 409
7.1 Paroemics ......................................................... 409
7.2 Ronkonkoma ...................................................... 410
7.3 Goethe: “Die Nacht schuf tausend Ungeheuer” ....................................................... 412
7.4 Uncle Misha: “Но с хорошенькими мисс/Я иду на компромисс!” ........................................ 413
7.5 Latin persona ‘mask’ .......................................... 414
7.6 Language as a Badge of Authenticity .............................................................. 415

Epilegomenon .......................................................... 417

Master Glossary ...................................................... 423

Index ................................................................. 471
The Speaking Self: Language Lore and English Usage
Second Edition
Shapiro, M.
2017, XXVIII, 517 p., Softcover
ISBN: 978-3-319-51681-3