Contents

1 The Foundations of Identity-Based Brand Management
   1.1 Current Challenges Facing Brand Management
   1.2 Theoretical Foundations of Branding
      1.2.1 The Market-Based View
      1.2.2 The Resource-Based View
      1.2.3 The Competence-Based View
      1.2.4 Linking the Market-Based View with the Competence-Based View
   1.3 Conclusion
   References

2 The Concept of Identity-Based Brand Management
   2.1 Development of an Identity-Based Brand Management
   2.2 Identity-Based Brand Definition
   2.3 The Fundamental Concept of Identity-Based Brand Management
   2.4 Comparison of Brand Management Approaches
   2.5 The Current Status of Identity Research
      2.5.1 Socio-Scientific Approaches to Identity Research
      2.5.2 Socio-Scientific Identity Research and Brand Identity
      2.5.3 Economic Approaches of Identity Research
   2.6 Conceptual Design of Brand Identity
      2.6.1 Brand Identity as an Internal Management Concept
      2.6.2 Dimensions of Brand Identity
   2.7 The Brand Image Concept
      2.7.1 The Brand Image Concept in Identity-Based Brand Management
      2.7.2 Associative Neural Brand Networks as the Product of Stimulus Processing in the Brain
      2.7.3 Storage of Brand-Related Information in the Memory
   References
2.7.4 Neuroscientific Implications for Identity-Based Brand Management ........................................... 67
2.8 Brand Trust in Identity-Based Brand Management ................................................................. 70
  2.8.1 Relevance of Brand Trust .............................................................. 70
  2.8.2 Components of Brand Trust ......................................................... 71
  2.8.3 Implications for Identity-Based Brand Management .................................. 75
2.9 Brand Authenticity in Identity-Based Brand Management ......................................................... 76
  2.9.1 The Relevance of Brand Authenticity ............................................ 76
  2.9.2 The Object of Brand Authenticity ................................................ 77
  2.9.3 Implications for Identity-Based Brand Management ................................ 78
2.10 The Process of Identity-Based Brand Management .............................................................. 81
References ........................................................................................................................................ 83

3 Strategic Brand Management ........................................................................................................ 91
  3.1 Situational Analysis ..................................................................................................................... 93
    3.1.1 Objectives of Internal Brand Management ...................................................... 93
    3.1.2 Objectives of External Brand Management ...................................................... 102
  3.2 Brand Identity .......................................................................................................................... 106
  3.3 Brand Positioning ....................................................................................................................... 106
    3.3.1 Classifying and Demarcating Brand Positioning ............................................ 106
    3.3.2 The Positioning Process in Identity-Based Brand Management .................. 109
    3.3.3 Brand Repositioning as a Special Form of Positioning .............................. 113
    3.3.4 Analysing Brand Positioning by Means of Positioning Models .................. 115
    3.3.5 Choosing Appropriate Positioning Strategies ............................................ 118
    3.3.6 Multi-sensual Brand Positioning ................................................................. 119
  3.4 Brand Architecture ..................................................................................................................... 122
    3.4.1 Definition ...................................................................................................................... 122
    3.4.2 The Process of Brand Architecture Design ................................................. 124
  3.5 Brand Evolution ........................................................................................................................ 140
    3.5.1 Definition and Overview ...................................................................................... 140
    3.5.2 Brand Dynamisation ............................................................................................... 140
    3.5.3 Brand Restructuring ............................................................................................... 149
  3.6 Brand Budgeting ......................................................................................................................... 162
    3.6.1 The Purpose of Brand Budgeting ......................................................................... 162
    3.6.2 The Budgeting Process ......................................................................................... 163
References ........................................................................................................................................ 165

4 Operational Brand Management .................................................................................................. 173
  4.1 Operational Internal Brand Management .............................................................................. 175
    4.1.1 Moderators of the Relationships with Brand Citizenship Behaviour .................. 175
    4.1.2 Instruments to Influence Brand Understanding and Brand Commitment ...... 177
7 International Identity-Based Brand Management

7.1 Standardisation Versus Differentiation in International Marketing

7.2 Important Influences of Consumer Behaviour on Brands in International Markets

7.2.1 National Culture

7.2.2 Stage of Economic Development

7.2.3 Socio-Demographic Characteristics

7.2.4 Brand Origin

7.3 Strategic and Operational Aspects of International Brand Management

7.3.1 Timing of Market Entry

7.3.2 Positioning Brands in an International Context

7.3.3 International Brand Architecture

7.3.4 Specifics of Internal Brand Management in an International Context

References

Index
Identity-Based Brand Management
Fundamentals—Strategy—Implementation—Controlling
Burmann, C.; Riley, N.-M.; Halaszovich, T.; Schade, M.
2017, X, 316 p. 133 illus., 23 illus. in color., Softcover
ISBN: 978-3-658-13560-7