

Contents

1	Introduction . . . . .	1
	Insung Jung
2	Development of Liberal Arts Education and Colleges: Historical and Global Perspectives . . . . .	13
	Akira Tachikawa
3	The East-West Axis? Liberal Arts Education in East Asian Universities . . . . .	27
	Rui Yang
4	Going Global and Adapting to Local Context: Handong Global University in South Korea . . . . .	39
	Yohan Ka
5	Liberal Arts for a New Japan: The Case of the International Christian University . . . . .	51
	Mikiko Nishimura
6	Making the Global Local: Twenty Years at Miyazaki International College, Japan . . . . .	63
	Micheál Thompson and Insung Jung
7	Adapting the Western Model of Liberal Arts Education in China: The Cases of Fudan University and Lingnan University . . . . .	75
	Wen Yu Chai
8	Liberal Arts Education in Postwar Taiwan: A Case Study on General Education Reform at National Taiwan University . . . . .	87
	Chun-chieh Huang
9	Global Education with High Impact and Deep Learning in the United States: The Liberal Arts at Pomona College . . . . .	99
	Jill Grigsby

10 Liberal Arts and Sciences Education for the 21st Century Knowledge Economy: A Case Study of Amsterdam University College, The Netherlands . . . . .	113
Deirdre Klein Bog and Marijk van der Wende
11 Revisiting Key Values, Roles and Challenges of Liberal Arts Education in East Asia . . . . .	125
Akiyoshi Yonezawa and Mikiko Nishimura
12 Cultivating Intercultural Communicative Competence in Liberal Arts Institutions . . . . .	137
Hye-Gyeong Ohe
13 Applications of Digital Technologies in Liberal Arts Institutions in East Asia . . . . .	151
Insung Jung and Jiwak Bajracharya
14 Internationalization and Faculty Well-Being in Liberal Arts Colleges: An Often Neglected Issue in East Asia . . . . .	165
Toshiaki Sasao and Naoki Hatta
15 Conclusions: Summary, Remaining Issues and Recommendations . . . . .	179
Insung Jung, Mikiko Nishimura and Toshiaki Sasao
Erratum to: Applications of Digital Technologies in Liberal Arts Institutions in East Asia . . . . .	E1
Insung Jung and Jiwak Bajracharya
Afterword: Toward a Global Liberal Education, in Asia and With the World . . . . .	193
Index . . . . .	203

<http://www.springer.com/978-981-10-0511-4>

Liberal Arts Education and Colleges in East Asia
Possibilities and Challenges in the Global Age

Jung, I.; Nishimura, M.; Sasao, T. (Eds.)

2016, XI, 206 p. 4 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-981-10-0511-4