SPECIAL ISSUE ON

Key Problems in Long-Distance Learning and Training

Overview:

As the world of technology offers a rapidly increasing number of outlets for creativity and communications, a worldwide education is undergoing a significant renovation. Each day more classrooms can be accessed from anywhere, at any time. So it is the time to aim at exploring e-learning solutions that spark the attention as well as imagination of students through interactivity, immersion, variety of content, or cutting-edge technologies. Moreover, papers of solution of network service, QoS, organization and structure in e-learning and e-education are encouraged, such as long distance signal transmission and cloud and fog computing in e-learning.

Topics

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to, the following scope:

<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Accessibility and usability of web-based instruction• Assessment• Augmented reality solutions• Collaborative learning and social networks• High-impact practices in e-learning• Informal e-Learning solutions• Learning analytics• Massive Open Online Course• Mobile learning• Security and privacy in education and e-learning systems	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Best Practices• Big Data in e-learning• Blended learning• Cloud and fog computing in e-learning• Social and organizational perspectives• Student engagement• e-Educational Models, Frameworks and Platforms• Virtual Learning Environments• QoS of e-learning
