Neophilologus
An International Journal of Modern and Medieval Language and Literature
Editor-in-Chief: R.H. Bremmer

► An international peer-reviewed publication devoted to modern and mediaeval language and literature
► Approaches include literary theory, comparative literature, philology, and textual criticism
► Articles in English, French, German, Italian, and Spanish
► Quick online publication after acceptance
► Easy-to-use online submission system (see Author instructions for link)

Neophilologus is an international journal peer-reviewed devoted to the study of modern and mediaeval language and literature, including general linguistics, literary theory and comparative literature. The normal languages of publication are English, French, German, Italian and Spanish, but articles in other languages may also be submitted for consideration by the Editorial Board.

On the homepage of Neophilologus at springer.com you can ► Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
► Get to know the complete Editorial Board
► Find submission information