Veterinary Research Communications

An International Journal Publishing Topical Reviews and Research Articles on all Aspects of the Veterinary Sciences

Editor-in-Chief: R.G. Dalziel

- Offers research articles and topical reviews on all aspects of the veterinary sciences
- A forum for new methods, newly described diseases and new pathological findings as these are applied to animals
- Helps readers keep abreast of current developments in the entire field of veterinary science
- 100% of authors who answered a survey reported that they would definitely publish or probably publish in the journal again

Veterinary Research Communications publishes fully refereed research articles and topical reviews on all aspects of the veterinary sciences. The journal presents interdisciplinary articles, and well argued reviews, even if they are somewhat controversial.

The journal offers an appropriate medium in which to publish new methods, newly described diseases and new pathological findings, as these are applied to animals. As it deliberately seeks a wide coverage, Veterinary Research Communications provides its readers with a means of keeping abreast of current developments in the entire field of veterinary science.
