Journal of Chinese Political Science
Editor-in-Chief: S. Guo

- Recently accepted into Thomson Reuter's Emerging Sources Citation Index (ESCI), a new index in the Web of Science Core Collection
- Publishes theoretical, policy, and empirical research articles on Chinese politics across the whole spectrum of political science
- Emphasizes Chinese domestic politics and foreign policy in comparative perspectives.
- Also features papers on relevant aspects of contemporary China

The Journal of Chinese Political Science (JCPS) is a refereed academic journal that publishes theoretical, policy, and empirical research articles on Chinese politics across the whole spectrum of political science.

Coverage in the journal emphasizes Chinese domestic politics and foreign policy in comparative perspectives. The journal also features papers on different aspects of contemporary China when these relate closely to Chinese politics, political economy, political culture, reform and opening, development, the military, law and legal system, foreign relations, and other important issues of political significance.

On the homepage of Journal of Chinese Political Science at springer.com you can

- Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
- Get to know the complete Editorial Board
- Find submission information

Electronic access
- link.springer.com

Subscription information
- springer.com/librarians