Vocations and Learning: Studies in Vocational and Professional Education

Editors-in-Chief: S. Billett; C. Harteis
Associate Editors: S. Choy; J. Bauer; L. Filliettaz

An international forum for peer-reviewed papers focused on vocational and professional education

Presents studies on teaching and learning in vocational education

Offers critical appraisals of contemporary policies, practices and initiatives

Reports on progress in related fields: psychology, philosophy, sociology, anthropology, history, cultural studies, labour studies, industrial relations and economics

Vocations and Learning: Studies in Vocational and Professional Education provides an international forum for papers on the broad field of vocational learning, across a range of settings: vocational colleges, schools, universities, workplaces, domestic environments, voluntary bodies, and more. Coverage includes such topics as curriculum and pedagogy practices for vocational learning; the role and nature of knowledge in vocational learning; the relationship between context and learning in vocational settings; analyses of instructional practice and policy in vocational learning and education; studies of teaching and learning in vocational education; and the relationships between vocational learning and economic imperatives, and the practices and policies of national and trans-national agencies. This peer-reviewed journal aims to enhance the contribution of research and scholarship to vocational education policy and practice, and also to inspire new research in this diverse field.

Impact Factor: 1.324 (2016), Journal Citation Reports®

On the homepage of Vocations and Learning at springer.com you can

Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
Get to know the complete Editorial Board
Find submission information