Journal of Cardiothoracic Surgery

Editor-in-Chief: V. Zamvar
Editors-in-Chief: D. Taggart

- 90% of authors surveyed would recommend us to a colleague
- High visibility for your work with over 160,000 accesses per month
- Fair and open peer-review

Journal of Cardiothoracic Surgery is an open access journal for the publication and online dissemination of original research in the fields of cardiac and thoracic surgery. The journal provides an efficient and fair open peer-review service, and is committed to publishing all sound science, provided that there is some advance in knowledge presented by the work.

Impact Factor: 1.101 (2016), Journal Citation Reports®

Giving authors in their area of expertise the opportunity to publish open access
- High visibility thanks to unrestricted online access
- Rigorous peer-review and high-quality author services
- Creative Commons licensed – authors retain copyright
- Citation tracking and inclusion in bibliographic databases
- Easy compliance with open access mandates