New Zealand Journal of Forestry Science
Editor-in-Chief: R. Falshaw

► International in scope, covering a wide range of forestry topics
► Offers a particular focus on plantation forestry
► Coverage includes tropical species, climate change, socio-economic impact and more

This international journal covers the breadth of forestry science, focusing on plantation forestry as well as tropical species, forest health and vitality, climate change, global climate cycles, forestry policy and the socio-economic impacts of forestry.

Impact Factor: 0.921 (2016), Journal Citation Reports®

Giving authors in their area of expertise the opportunity to publish open access

► High visibility thanks to unrestricted online access
► Rigorous peer-review and high-quality author services
► Creative Commons licensed – authors retain copyright
► Citation tracking and inclusion in bibliographic databases
► Easy compliance with open access mandates