Journal of Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities
Editor-in-Chief: C.T. Laurencin

- First journal dedicated to examining and eliminating racial and ethnic health disparities
- Official Journal of the Cobb-NMA Institute, whose mission is to eliminate racial and ethnic health disparities
- Publishes original research, systematic reviews, and commentaries presenting the state-of-the-art thinking on problems centered on health disparities will be considered for publication

Journal of Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities reports on the scholarly progress of work to understand, address, and ultimately eliminate health disparities based on race and ethnicity. Efforts to explore underlying causes of health disparities and to describe interventions that have been undertaken to address racial and ethnic health disparities are featured. Promising studies that are ongoing or studies that have longer term data are welcome, as are studies that serve as lessons for best practices in eliminating health disparities. Original research articles as well as evolutionary reviews presenting the state-of-the-art thinking on problems centered on health disparities will be considered for publication.

On the homepage of Journal of Racial and Ethnic Health Disparities at springer.com you can
- Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
- Get to know the complete Editorial Board
- Find submission information