Cancer Imaging
Editor-in-Chief: R. Hicks; A.D. Van den Abbeele

- The official journal of the International Cancer Imaging Society (ICIS)
- High visibility – more than 975,000 accesses in 2015
- Ranked in the 2nd quartile in Radiology, Nuclear Medicine & Medical Imaging category of JCR

Cancer Imaging is the official journal of the International Cancer Imaging Society, publishing original articles, reviews and editorials on CT-, MR-, PET-, ultrasound, radionuclide and multimodal imaging in all kinds of malignant tumours. Cancer Imaging is the only journal in the Journal Citation Reports dedicated to solely publishing articles on the rapidly advancing area of imaging techniques in cancer. The open access, online format of Cancer Imaging provides a highly visible forum for radiologists, nuclear medicine specialists, oncologists, ontological surgeons and those with an interest in cancer imaging.

Impact Factor: 2.404 (2016), Journal Citation Reports®

Giving authors in their area of expertise the opportunity to publish open access

- High visibility thanks to unrestricted online access
- Rigorous peer-review and high-quality author services
- Creative Commons licensed – authors retain copyright
- Citation tracking and inclusion in bibliographic databases
- Easy compliance with open access mandates