Asthma Research and Practice

Editor-in-Chief: F. Braido

- The official journal of Interasma
- Dedicated section for pediatric asthma
- Translating research from bench to bedside

Asthma Research and Practice is the official publication of Interasma, launching in 2015. This open access journal will publish cutting edge basic, clinical and translational research in addition to hot topic reviews and debate articles related to asthma and associated conditions. The journal has a specialized section which focusses on pediatric asthma research.

Asthma Research and Practice aims to become a leading high visibility forum for the dissemination of asthma research worldwide.

Giving authors in their area of expertise the opportunity to publish open access

- High visibility thanks to unrestricted online access
- Rigorous peer-review and high-quality author services
- Creative Commons licensed – authors retain copyright
- Citation tracking and inclusion in bibliographic databases
- Easy compliance with open access mandates