European Political Science
Editor: D. Stockemer; E. Rashkova; A. Blair

► A journal of the European Consortium for Political Research (ECPR)
► Devoted to publishing contributions by and for the political science community

European Political Science (EPS) is an international journal publishing contributions by and for the political science community, with a wide interpretation of 'political science' encompassing comparative politics, political economy, international relations, public administration, political theory, European studies and related disciplines.

Although its traditional focus has been on European affairs and the development of the discipline, the journal also seeks work that compares politics in Europe with other continents and countries, and more general work (on other regions) that would be of interest to European political scientists. As the professional journal of the European Consortium for Political Research, European Political Science is a prime outlet for research notes and opinion pieces about the political science profession, including teaching and learning contributions, and also publishes symposia, academic debates and original datasets.

Impact Factor: 1.292 (2016), Journal Citation Reports®

On the homepage of European Political Science at springer.com you can

► Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
► Get to know the complete Editorial Board
► Find submission information