International Journal of Legal Medicine

Editors-in-Chief: H. Pfeiffer; Th. Bajanowski

- 91% of authors who answered a survey reported that they would definitely publish or probably publish in the journal again

The International Journal of Legal Medicine aims to improve the scientific resources used in the elucidation of crime and related forensic applications at a high level of evidential proof. The journal offers review articles tracing development in specific areas, with up-to-date analysis; original articles discussing significant recent research results; case reports describing interesting and exceptional examples; population data; letters to the editors; and technical notes, which appear in a section originally created for rapid publication of data in the dynamic field of DNA analysis.

This is the official publication of the International Academy of Legal Medicine.
