HSS Journal, the Musculoskeletal Journal of Hospital for Special Surgery, is soliciting articles on a variety of topics that encompass orthopaedics, rheumatology, anesthesiology, rehabilitation, and sports medicine. Editor-in-Chief Charles Cornell, MD, and the journal’s editorial board welcome the following article types:

- Basic or clinical research, including randomized controlled trials and high-quality observational studies
- Narrative, scoping, or systematic reviews
- Surgical or rehabilitative technique articles relevant to musculoskeletal medicine
- Case reports highlighting innovations in musculoskeletal disciplines

HSS Journal is published by Springer Nature and reaches a global audience. Published articles are available electronically in thousands of libraries globally and are accessible through PubMed Central, among other platforms. More than 20,000 clinical professionals receive each of three printed issues per year. Nearly 500,000 full-text articles were downloaded in 2017.

For submission information, please visit hss.edu/hss-journal-submission-information.

For more information contact Joy Jacobson, Managing Editor, jacobsonj@hss.edu.

Visit the HSS Journal page at springer.com/hssjournal