Table of Contents

Acknowledgements vii
List of Reviewers ix

SECTION I: INTRODUCTION

1. International Perspectives on Science Teacher Education: An Introduction
   Sandra K. Abell
   3

SECTION II: POLICY AND PRACTICE IN INTERNATIONAL SCIENCE TEACHER EDUCATION

2. The Development of Preservice Elementary Science Teacher Education in Australia
   Ken Appleton, Ian S. Ginns, & James J. Watters
   9

3. Reform in Science Teacher Education in Italy: The Case of Physics
   Lidia Borghi, Anna De Ambrosis, & Paolo Mascheretti
   31

4. Science Teacher Preparation in Lebanon: Reality and Future Directions
   Saouma BouJaoude
   45
5. Science Teacher Education in Pakistan: Policies and Practices 75
   Hafiz Muhammad Iqbal & Nasir Mahmood

SECTION III: MAKING SENSE OF SCIENCE TEACHER LEARNING

6. Higher Order Thinking in Science Teacher Education in Israel 95
   Yehudith Weinberger & Anat Zohar

7. Secondary Science Student Teaching Assessment Model: A United States and United Kingdom Collaborative 121
   Kate A. Baird, Marilyn M. Brodie, Stuart C. Bevins, & Pamela G. Chrystal

8. Thinking Like a Teacher: Learning to Teach Science in a Study Abroad Program 141
   Sandra K. Abell & Amy M. Jacks

SECTION IV: CROSS-CULTURAL PERSPECTIVES ON SCIENCE TEACHER EDUCATION

9. A Meeting of Two Cultures: The Experience of Facilitating a Teacher Enhancement Project for Egyptian High School Science Teachers 157
   Janice Koch & Angela Calabrese Barton

10. International Partnerships as a Means of Reforming Science Teacher Education: Bolivia, Chile, Venezuela, and the United States 171
    Jon E. Pedersen, Ronald J. Bonnstetter, Marilu Rioseco, J. Mauro Briceno-Valero, Hernan Garcia, & James O'Callaghan

11. International Science Educators' Perceptions of Scientific Literacy: Implications for Science Teacher Education 193
    Deborah J. Tippins, Sharon E. Nichols, & Lynn A. Bryan with Bah Amadou, Sajin Chun, Hideo Ikeda, Elizabeth McKinley, Lesley Parker, & Lilia Reyes Herrera

Notes on Contributors 223

First Author Index 229

Subject Index 233
Science Teacher Education
An International Perspective
Abell, S.K. (Ed.)
2000, IX, 237 p., Hardcover