CONTENTS

Preface by Lester Embree vii

Introduction by Ted Toadvine xv

I. Merleau-Ponty as a Reader of Husserl

1. Merleau-Ponty on Husserl: A Reappraisal
   Dan Zahavi 3

2. Merleau-Ponty's Ontological Reading of Constitution in Phénoménologie de la perception
   Elizabeth A. Behnke 31

3. The Phenomenological Movement: A Tradition
   without Method? Merleau-Ponty and Husserl
   Thomas M. Seebohm 51

II. Phenomenology and Method in Merleau-Ponty

4. Leaving Husserl's Cave? The Philosopher's Shadow Revisited
   Ted Toadvine 71

5. From Dialectic to Reversibility: A Critical Change of Subject-Object Relation in Merleau-Ponty's Thought
   Hiroshi Kojima 95

6. What about the praxis of Reduction? Between Husserl
   and Merleau-Ponty
   Natalie Depraz 115

7. From Decisions to Passions: Merleau-Ponty’s Interpretation of Husserl’s Reduction
   Sara Heinämaa 127
III. Legacy and Tradition

8. The Time of Half-Sleep: Merleau-Ponty between Husserl and Proust
   Mauro Carbone
   149

9. Eugen Fink and Maurice Merleau-Ponty: The Philosophical Lineage in Phenomenology
   Ronald Bruzina
   173

10. The Legacy of Husserl’s “Ursprung der Geometrie”: The Limits of Phenomenology in Merleau-Ponty and Derrida
    Leonard Lawlor
    201

Appendix

11. Merleau-Ponty’s Reading of Husserl: A Chronological Overview
    Ted Toadvine
    227

Notes on Contributors
   287

Index
   291
Merleau-Ponty's Reading of Husserl
Toadvine, T.; Embree, L. (Eds.)
2002, XXVI, 301 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-1-4020-0469-8