INTRODUCTION

I. A BRIEF HISTORY.....	xvii
II. THE FIVE PROBLEMS OF MENTAL CAUSATION .....	xxi
ii.i. Mental anomalism .....	xxi
ii.ii. Normativity .....	xxiii
ii.iii. Phenomenal states of affairs.....	xxiii
ii.iv. Externalism.....	xxiv
ii.v. Causal exclusion.....	xxv
III. A LOOK FORWARD .....	xxix
iii.i. What we need .....	xxix
iii.ii. What is coming.....	xxxi

PART I. ONTOLOGY

CHAPTER 1 PARTICULARS, PROPERTIES, AND RELATIONS.....	1
1.1. Particulars .....	1
1.2. Properties .....	2
1.3. How properties are had .....	4
1.4. States of affairs .....	5
1.5. Token identity of particulars.....	7
1.6. Relations .....	8
1.7. Relational properties .....	11
1.8. Relationism .....	12
CHAPTER 2 PHYSICALISM.....	15
2.1. A negative account of ‘physical’ .....	15
2.2. Supervenience and physical realization .....	16
2.3. The free lunch principle.....	19
2.4. Arguments for physicalism.....	21

CHAPTER 3 A LAYERED WORLD .....	25
3.1. Levels of organization .....	25
3.2. Emergence .....	26
3.3. Upward causation .....	28
3.4. Multiple realizability.....	31
3.5. Relational properties and indirect supervenience .....	33
3.6. Relational properties and nonlocal supervenience.....	34
3.7. Against type identity.....	36
3.8. Non-identity and non-distinctness .....	39
3.9. Summary .....	40

PART II. CAUSALITY

CHAPTER 4 A DUALITY IN THE CONCEPT OF CAUSALITY .....	43
4.1. Causality: the very idea.....	43
4.2. The double face of causality .....	46
4.3. Dependence and physical connection .....	47
4.4. Generality and particularity .....	48
4.5. Theories of causality .....	50
CHAPTER 5 CAUSAL DEPENDENCE .....	53
5.1. INUS conditions .....	53
5.2. Counterfactuals and fixed circumstances.....	55
5.3. Noncausal conditions.....	58
5.4. Nonsalient causal conditions .....	59
5.5. Counting causes and effects.....	60
5.6. Indeterminism .....	61
5.7. Collateral effects .....	63
5.8. Overdetermination .....	65
5.9. Pre-emption.....	66
CHAPTER 6 CAUSAL CONNECTION .....	73
6.1. From counterfactual dependence to physical connection .....	73
6.2. The mechanistic approach.....	74
6.3. Causal processes .....	76
6.4. First criticism: the at-at theory of causal influence.....	78
6.5. Second criticism: causation by disconnection .....	80
6.6. Third criticism: causal relevance .....	82
6.7. Fourth criticism: the ontology of causal processes .....	84
6.8. What causal connections are.....	85

CHAPTER 7 UNIFYING DEPENDENCE AND CONNECTION .....	87
7.1. Physically linking causes and effects: Kitcher.....	87
7.2. Physically linking causes and effects: Mackie.....	87
7.3. Physically linking causes and effects: Dowe .....	89
7.4. From relations and mechanisms to dependencies and connections .....	90
7.5. The pairing problem.....	92
7.6. The pairing principle.....	94
7.7. Negative causal factors .....	96
7.8. Why we think causally.....	99
 CHAPTER 8 CAUSATION AND NATURAL LAW .....	 101
8.1. The first problem of mental causation .....	101
8.2. The nomological approach to causation .....	101
8.3. Against the notion of ‘causal law’ .....	103
8.4. Laws and patterns .....	105
8.5. Particularism .....	106
8.6. Perception of causal relations .....	108
8.7. Causal perception as implicit knowledge .....	110
8.8. Causal perception: object and content .....	113
 CHAPTER 9 THE PROBLEM OF CAUSAL RELATA.....	 115
9.1. Causal ontology and mental causation.....	115
9.2. Hume, Kim, and others .....	116
9.3. Examples of causal statements.....	117
9.4. Excluding concrete particulars.....	118
9.5. Excluding negative states of affairs .....	118
9.6. Excluding regularities .....	120
9.7. Properties of states of affairs.....	121
 CHAPTER 10 GETTING EVENTS WRONG.....	 125
10.1. Event mereology .....	125
10.2. Events according to Davidson .....	127
10.3. First criticism: causal relations and causal explanations .....	128
10.4. Second criticism: causal relevance and irrelevance of properties.....	131
10.5. Third criticism: the need for states of affairs .....	134
 CHAPTER 11 GETTING EVENTS RIGHT .....	 137
11.1. Events according to Kim.....	137
11.2. The narrative view: events as episodes.....	138
11.3. In favour of the narrative view.....	140
11.4. Events, ongoing processes, and states of affairs .....	143

CHAPTER 12 RELATIONS AS CAUSAL RELATA .....	147
12.1. Relational causal relata .....	147
12.2. Causal relations as causes .....	149
12.3. Causal relations as effects.....	151
CHAPTER 13 CAUSAL EFFICACY .....	155
13.1. The need for a criterion.....	155
13.2. Locality and intrinsicness .....	156
13.3. The criterion of local difference .....	157
13.4. In favour of the criterion of local difference.....	158
13.5. Relational properties .....	161
13.6. The causal efficacy of relational properties .....	163
13.7. The causal efficacy of the past.....	166
CHAPTER 14 SUPERVENIENT CAUSATION .....	169
14.1. Epiphenomenalism or downward causation: a dilemma?.....	169
14.2. Relationality and causal autonomy .....	171
14.3. Commensurateness and the correlation principle .....	172
14.4. Downward causation and causal closure .....	174
14.5. Downward causation as constraint.....	175
14.6. Doing versus exploiting causal work.....	178

PART III. MIND

CHAPTER 15 THE CONCEPT OF MIND.....	183
15.1. Introduction.....	183
15.2. Mind presupposes teleology .....	184
15.3. Mind presupposes representation.....	187
15.4. Mind presupposes (ir-)rationality .....	190
15.5. Mind presupposes perception and action.....	191
15.6. Mind and qualia .....	194
CHAPTER 16 AGAINST THE COMPUTATIONAL THEORY .....	199
16.1. Introduction.....	199
16.2. The computational theory of mind.....	200
16.3. First criticism: epiphenomenalism.....	201
16.4. Second criticism: lack of psychological realism.....	202
16.5. Further criticisms .....	202
16.6. Propositional attitudes as mental models.....	205

16.7. In favour of the theory of mental models.....208
 16.8. Propositional attitudes according to interpretationism.....209

CHAPTER 17 AGAINST THE THEORY THEORY.....211
 17.1. Introduction.....211
 17.2. The Theory Theory .....213
 17.3. Against the Theory Theory .....214
 17.4. Interpretationism.....216
 17.5. Simulation theory.....216

CHAPTER 18 AGAINST INTERNALISM.....219
 18.1. Introduction.....219
 18.2. Semantic externalism.....221
 18.3. Interpretationist externalism .....222
 18.4. Social and linguistic externalism .....223
 18.5. Etiological externalism .....224
 18.6. Environmentalism.....225
 18.7. Reasons externalism .....228

CHAPTER 19 AGAINST REDUCTIONISM.....233
 19.1. Introduction.....233
 19.2. Nagel-reductionism.....234
 19.3. Functional reductionism .....235
 19.4. Eliminativism.....238
 19.5. Reductionism as method.....239

CHAPTER 20 AGAINST TOKEN PHYSICALISM.....241
 20.1. Introduction.....241
 20.2. Mental holism and uncodifiability .....241
 20.3. The problem of arbitrariness.....243
 20.4. Weak externalism .....245
 20.5. Against weak externalism.....247
 20.6. Actions.....248

CONCLUSION

CHAPTER 21 THE FIVE PROBLEMS ONCE AGAIN.....253
 21.1. Mental anomalism.....253
 21.2. Normativity .....254
 21.3. Phenomenal states of affairs .....256
