Contents

1 Introduction .............................................................................................................. 1
   Deborah J. Monahan, David H. Haigler, and Ronald W. Toseland

2 Accessibility of Caregiver Education and Support Programs: Reaching Hard-to-Reach Caregivers ......................... 13
   Maryam Navaie

3 Utilization Patterns of Caregiver Education and Support Programs ......................................................... 29
   Deborah J. Monahan

4 Education and Support Programs for Family Caregivers: Current Practices Across Health-Care Scenarios .......... 45
   Timothy R. Elliott

5 Ethnic, Cultural, and Gender Issues in Conducting Caregiver Educational and Support Groups .......................................................... 59
   Carole Cox

6 Caregiver Support Groups: Led by Peers, Professional, or Both ................................................................. 73
   Meridean L. Maas and Janet P. Specht

7 Telehealth and Family Caregiving: Developments in Research, Education, Policy, and Practice ...................... 85
   Robert L. Glueckauf and La Tonya Noël

8 Education and Support Outcome Sustainability: A Conceptual Framework ..................................................... 107
   Kathryn B. McGrew
9 Evaluating the Effectiveness of Caregiving Education and Support Programs ................................................................. 125
Ronald W. Toseland, Tamara L. Smith, and Kimberly P. McClive-Reed

10 Current and Future Directions of Education and Support Programs for Caregivers .................................................. 149
Ronald W. Toseland, David H. Haigler, and Deborah J. Monahan

Index .............................................................................................................................................................................. 159
Education and Support Programs for Caregivers
Research, Practice, Policy
Toseland, R.W.; Haigler, D.H.; Monahan, D.J. (Eds.)
2011, XVI, 165 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-1-4419-8030-4