\(^a\)these are practised in more detail the companion volume: English for Academic Research: Grammar Exercises
2.1 choosing the best subject to put at the beginning of the phrase

Choose the best sentence (a or b). The parts in bold are designed to show you the main differences in the word order in order to help you choose the best option.

(1a) The following are some examples of rare species:

(1b) Examples of rare species are the following:

(2a) Among the factors which influence longevity of seeds, of particular importance are temperature and moisture content.

(2b) Temperature and moisture content are particularly important factors influencing the longevity of seeds.

(3a) Sometimes 802.16 systems are referred to as Worldwide Interoperability for Microwave Access (WiMAX) systems in the trade press.

(3b) In the trade press, 802.16 systems are sometimes referred to as Worldwide Interoperability for Microwave Access (WiMAX) systems.

(4a) However, this operation is only defined for some nouns, which are called countable nouns.

(4b) However, only for some nouns this operation is defined, these nouns are called countable nouns.

(5a) To do this exercise, you do not need to be able to understand the meaning of the technical words.

(5b) You do not need to be able to understand the meaning of the technical words in order to do this exercise.

(6a) A gradual decline in germinability and in the subsequent vigor of the resultant seedling, a higher sensitivity to stresses upon germination and eventually loss of the ability to germinate are generally recorded.

(6b) There is generally a gradual decline in germinability and in the subsequent vigor of the resultant seedling, followed by a higher sensitivity to stress upon germination, and eventually a loss of the ability to germinate.

(7a) This leads to the expression in the plasma membrane of AGEs derived from misfolded proteins, which are known to transmit to surrounding cells (Fig. 2).

(7b) This leads to the expression of AGEs derived from misfolded proteins in the plasma membrane, which are known to transmit to surrounding cells (Fig. 2).
(1) a (this reflects the normal word order in English which is to put the subject of the verb at the beginning of the sentence)

(2) b (as in 1a)

(3) b (in the trade press is crucial information which should go first in the sentence)

(4) a (the construction in 4b is not correct English)

(5) a (for the same reasons as in 3)

(6) b (the verb in 7a is located at the end of the sentence, this means that the reader has to wait a long time before getting the key information contained in the verb)

(7) a (although 8a does not reflect the usual English construction of putting the direct object before the indirect object, it avoids the ambiguity of 8b where it seems that the proteins are in the plasma)
2.2 putting the key words first

Rewrite the sentences so that they begin with a subject. There are several possible ways to do this as highlighted in the example. Just choose one way. There is no key to this exercise as there are many possible solutions.

Concerning the role of education, it is given great emphasis in their society.
= The role of education is given great emphasis in their society.
= Their society gives great emphasis to the role of education.
= Great emphasis is given to the role of education in their society.

7. It would be advisable to calculate the coefficients beforehand.
8. It is reasonable to think that at least one value will equal X.
9. It is possible to use the code for other purposes as well.

1. Carrying out these tests is easy. / These tests are easy to carry out.
2. Unfortunately, your manuscript does not fit the scope of the conference.
3. Salaries may increase.
4. The samples must be cleaned.
5. The stresses should be defined with respect to the original configuration.
6. All future implantations are very likely to be required to adhere to new safety rules.
7. The coefficients should be calculated beforehand.
8. At least one value will probably equal X.
9. The code can be used for other purposes as well.
2.5 choosing the best word order to help the reader: 1

Choose the sentence (a, b or c) that best enables the reader to quickly assimilate the information contained in the sentence.

Examples

(a) This makes it possible to read with sufficient precision the sensor.
(b) This makes it possible to read the sensor with sufficient precision. yes.

(a) Our aim was to assess the contribution both in the past and the present of anthropogenic activities to global environmental pollution.
(b) Our aim was to assess the contribution of anthropogenic activities to global environmental pollution both in the past and the present. yes.

Key: In both cases a) is incorrect because it interrupts the normal word order of English: subject + verb + object

(1a) Do you have any openings in your laboratory for PhD students?
(1b) Do you have any openings for PhD students in your laboratory?

(10a) This will avoid discharging around eight million tons of debris into the atmosphere in 2020.

(10b) This will avoid discharging into the atmosphere in 2020 around eight million tons of debris.
2.7 choosing the best word order to help the reader: 3

Where necessary, rearrange the elements in these sentences into the clearest order for the reader. Insert commas where necessary.

1. Among the factors which influence X / particularly important / are P and Q.
2. This was associated / in the USA / with changes in the environment.
3. However / only / for some Xs / this operation is defined.
4. From now on / since the two cases are almost identical / we will only refer to the first case.
5. With each operation / is associated / a number / which refers to the ranking.
6. At any time / it is possible to put / on hold / the application / by doing X.
7. It is thus possible / to select / from the database / only useful data.
8. Important parameters / are / both X and Y.

1. P and Q are particularly important factors that influence X.
2. In the USA this was associated with changes in the environment.
3. However this operation is only defined for some Xs.
4. Since the two cases are almost identical, from now on we will only refer to the first case.
5. A number is associated with each operation, which refers to the ranking.
6. It is possible to put the application on hold at any time by doing X. / By doing X, it is possible to put the application on hold at any time. / At any time, it is possible to put the application on hold by doing X.
7. It is thus possible to select only useful data from the database.
8. Both X and Y are important parameters.
2.8 shifting the parts of the phrase to achieve optimal order: 1

In each sentence below the cause is given first and then the effect. In which cases would it make more sense to mention the effect first rather than the cause?

1. Since it is the international language of research I study English.
2. On account of the fact that I am 2 m tall I have problems with air travel.
3. Due to our diet we don’t have many overweight people in our region.
4. Owing to the fact that there was fog the plane was delayed by two hours.
5. As a consequence of the fact that my presentation was the last one of the day I decided to make it less formal and more fun.
6. A result of the rise in taxes is that spending has dropped dramatically.

These sentences make more sense to the reader by being rearranged as follows:

1. I study English since it is the international language of research.
2. I have problems with air travel on account of the fact that I am 2 m tall.
3. The plane was delayed by two hours owing to the fact that there was fog.
2.9  shifting the parts of the phrase to achieve optimal order: 2

Decide which you think is the best word order. If both are possible, what is the difference in meaning / emphasis?

(1a) In the second experiment, the plants accumulated lower amounts of selenium.

(1b) The plants accumulated lower amounts of selenium in the second experiment.

(2a) These findings highlighted in patients with severe disabilities a lack of cerebral activity.

(2b) These findings highlighted a lack of cerebral activity in patients with severe disabilities.

(3b) This will avoid discharging around eight million tons of debris into the atmosphere in 2020.

(4a) This makes it possible to read the gear sensor with increased precision.

(4b) This makes it possible to read with increased precision the gear sensor.

(5a) In the following sections, X and Y are detailed.

(5b) X and Y are detailed in the following sections.

(6a) In this kind of study it is of primary importance to perform the analysis of standard compounds and reference materials, such as raw natural substances and / or natural materials artificially aged in the laboratory, to determine the specific ions and ion fragments.

(6b) In this kind of study in order to determine the specific ions and ion fragments, it is of primary importance to analyze standard compounds and reference materials, such as raw natural substances and / or natural materials artificially aged in the laboratory.

(7a) This occurs when in the original network there is a dependent voltage, as in the circuit of Fig 3b.

(7b) This occurs when there is a dependent voltage in the original network, as in the circuit of Fig 3b.

(8a) A peak was observed at m / z 426, relating to the molecular ion, along with peaks at m / z 411 and 408.

(8b) The presence of a peak at m / z 426, relating to the molecular ion, was observed along with peaks at m / z 411 and 408.
(1a) This order would probably be used when the author has just described the first experiment and now wants to alert the reader that the focus will now move to the second experiment.

(1b) Here the focus is on the selenium rather than the experiment.

(2b), (3b), (4a) – These are the correct answers because they follow typical English word order of putting the direct object before the indirect object.

(5b) X and Y are the subject of the verb so it makes sense to put them at the beginning of the sentence. 5a is grammatical correct but would probably not be used by a native speaker.

(6b) This is best because it tells the reader the aim (i.e. determining the ions) near the beginning of the sentence rather than forcing the reader to wait for this information.

(7b) Direct object (voltage) before the indirect object (network)

(8a) This is best because the verb (observed) is close to the subject (peak)
2.10 shifting the parts of the phrase to achieve optimal order: 3

Rearrange and / or rewrite the sentences so that the information appears in a more logical order. Delete any redundancy.

1. A typical example is the following:

2. By eating too much of the wrong things, by drinking too much alcohol (especially wine and beer), and by not taking enough physical exercise, people may become overweight.

3. The table shows that for experimental purposes X is very useful.

4. In addition, in the mass spectrum are evident peaks at m / z 438, 411, and 410.

5. About the TTC output, it is computed by multiplying x by y.

1. The following is a typical example:

2. People may become overweight [for a number of reasons:] by eating too much …

3. The table shows that X is very useful for experimental purposes.

4. In addition, peaks at m / z 438, 411, and 410 are evident in the mass spectrum.

5. The TCC output is computed by multiplying x by y.
2.11 shifting the parts of the phrase to achieve optimal order: 4

Choose the sentence (a or b) that gives the information in the most reader-friendly order, i.e. that enables the reader to quickly assimilate the information contained in the sentence.

(1a) Control procedures: There are basically four procedures: up-shift, down-shift, neutral and start.

(1b) Control procedures: These procedures are basically four: namely up-shift, down-shift, neutral and start.

(2a) A known amount of the standard solution was added to the organic extracts, which were then stored in glass containers until their arrival at the lab.

(2b) The organic extracts were added with a known amount of the standard solution and stored in glass containers until their arrival at the lab.

(3a) These factors have, until now, been considered as irrelevant.

(3b) Until now these factors have been considered as irrelevant.

   (4b) By splitting ...

(5a) Concerning the role of education, it is given great emphasis in their society.
   (5b) Their society ...
   (5c) The role of ...
   (5d) Great emphasis ...

(1b) Figure 2 shows ... named Y.
(2b) A number of datasets were generated: ten datasets with the same X but a different Y, and five with a different X but a similar Y.
(3b) Due to the difficulties in measuring X, the analytical steps require some simplifications.
(4b) By splitting these sections in the middle, we can separate P and Q.
(5b) Their society gives great emphasis to the role of education.
(5c) The role of education is given great emphasis in their society.
(5d) Great emphasis is given to the role of education in their society.
2.13 putting sentences into the correct order

Read this extract from a manual on good writing. Put the five sentences into the correct order

(a) For every author, there are hundreds or thousands of readers. It thus make sense for the author to spend an extra hour making a document readable, rather than forcing thousands of readers to spend an extra hour trying to understand the document.

(b) I get frustrated when I have to read a telephone number that is written like this: 00441618269987.

(c) 0044 161 826 9987 is an example of good readability and ‘reader-centered’ writing. The focus is on helping the reader to understand quickly and easily, even if it means the author having to make more effort.

(d) 00441618269987 is an example of poor readability. It is hard for the reader to assimilate. It is also an example of ‘author centered’ writing – the ‘author’ knows the number and is very familiar with it. He or she writes it down in the fastest way possible (thus not wasting his / her time) without thinking about how easy it will be for the reader to understand (and thus forces the reader to waste time).

(e) When I then dial the number I invariably make a mistake. It would be much easier to understand if it were written: 0044 161 826 9987.

(1) b
(2) e
(3) d
(4) c
(5) a
2.14 typical mistakes

Correct any mistakes in the following sentences. The mistakes are all related to word order.

1. This leaves intact for at least six weeks the sample.
2. Many are the substances that are harmful to human beings.
3. This book shares with the previous one several aspects.
4. For several years with this system we have had problems.
5. The female chimpanzees immediately after giving birth are generally quite weak.
