

Contents

1 Introduction	1
Respecting Future Opportunities	3
Sustainable	3
Community	5
Development	6
Historic Civilizations and Sustainability	7
In the Beginning	8
The Hunter–Gatherers	9
The Dawn of Agriculture	10
Lessons for the Present	12
It Is about the Economy	14
The Fundamental Problem	15
Consumerism and Sustainability	16
Systemic Approach Involving All People	17
A Call for Sustainable Development	19
The Purpose of This Book	20
References	22
2 Basics of Sustainable Development	25
Planting the Seed	26
Fundamental Truths Behind Sustainable Development	29
Sustainability Triple Threat	32
Integrated Problem-Solving for Sustainability	33
Challenges to the Idea of Sustainability	37
A Mind-Set Inclined Toward Sustainable Development	40
A Shift in Ethics	42
Sustainable Development Principles	43
What Sustainability Is and Is Not!	47
KIS—Keep It Simple!	50
References	52

- 3 Operationalizing Sustainability in Community Development 55
 - Community Transitions 56
 - Principles of Livable Communities 57
 - What Is a Sustainable Community? 58
 - The Key: Everything Is Connected! 61
 - Kelp Forests, Sea Lions, and Killer Whales 63
 - Acorns, Mice, and Gypsy Moths 64
 - Shearwaters, Climate Change, and Overfishing 64
 - Operationalizing the Concept of Sustainability 66
 - Analysis in Sustainable Development 74
 - The Help of a Framework 76
 - The Framework of Project Mapping 76
 - Sustainability Framework Questionnaire 78
 - The Natural Step 79
 - Triple Bottom Line 80
 - Fractal Triangle Systemic Approach 81
 - Climate Action Frameworks 83
 - The Community Capitals Framework 86
 - Sustainability as a format for Communication 88
 - References 90

- 4 System’s Thinking in Community Development 93
 - System’s Thinking 94
 - Bioregionalism 97
 - What Is a Bioregion? 97
 - Distinguishing a Bioregion 98
 - Application of Science in the Bioregional Context 99
 - Case History of a Bioregion 101
 - Community Resiliency 102
 - Key to Resiliency 103
 - Producing Resiliency in Community Capital 105
 - Community Resiliency Assessment Example: Dauphin Island (AL) 106
 - Industrial Ecology 111
 - What Is Biomimicry? 111
 - Ecological Economics 113
 - Industrial Symbiosis 115
 - References 117

- 5 Evaluating Community Knowledge Assets and Resources 119
 - Assets Improve Community Life 119
 - Community Self-Sufficiency 120
 - The Ecological Footprint 121
 - First Community Contact: The Consultant Solicitation 123
 - Proposal Preparation 123
 - Project Initiation 125

- Identifying Community Assets to Encourage Self-Sufficiency 127
- A Plan for Assessing Local Assets and Resources 130
- Community Knowledge Asset Mapping 132
- Community Mapping Tool: Geographic Information Systems 136
- Qualitative Methods to Assess the Community 140
- Asset Evaluation Empowers the Community 141
- References 142
- 6 Understanding the Community Context 143
 - What Is Community Development? 143
 - Traditional Planning 144
 - Sustainable Community Development (SCD) 145
 - Understanding and Describing the Community 147
 - Writing Community Descriptions 153
 - Community Assessment Surveys 154
 - Focusing on Community Needs 155
 - Survey Design and Circulation 156
 - Survey Results Dissemination 158
 - Community Sustainability Assessment 160
 - Identify the Target Community 161
 - Action Planning Using a Logic Model Framework 163
 - References 166
- 7 Promoting Stakeholder Interest and Involvement 169
 - Engaging the Public for Addressing Development Issues 170
 - Project Stakeholder Recruitment 170
 - Methods of Contacting Potential Participants 175
 - Involving Key Influential People in the Initiative 176
 - Involving People Most Affected By the Problem 177
 - Promoting Participation among Diverse Groups 180
 - Developing a Plan for Communication 181
 - The Importance and Process of Communicating Project Facts 181
 - The Best Use of Principles of Persuasion 184
 - Communicating through a Web Site 186
 - How to Best Facilitate Stakeholder Discussion 186
 - Conducting Effective Meetings 187
 - Leading Group Discussions 187
 - Developing Facilitation Skills 189
 - Transformative Facilitation 190
 - Appreciative Inquiry 191
 - Open Space Technology 193
 - World Café 193
 - References 194

8	Building Capacity for Community Change	197
	Affecting Community Change	198
	Learning from the Process of Community Change	199
	What Is Community Capacity?	201
	The Development Triangle Point of View	202
	Promoting Leadership	206
	The Power of Collaborative Partnerships	207
	Evaluating Community Capacity Outcomes	209
	References	211
9	Creating a Community Vision	213
	Foresight First: The Vision	214
	Defining and Crafting a Vision?	214
	Goals versus Vision	216
	Why Develop a Vision?	216
	The Importance of Core Values	218
	Creating a Vision Statement	219
	Setting Goals from Asset Analysis	226
	References	229
10	Analyzing Community Problems and Defining Objectives	231
	Common Community-Identified Problems	231
	Analyzing Community Problems	235
	What Is a Community Problem?	236
	Community-Based Participatory Research	237
	Pattern Mapping	239
	Setting Project Objectives	242
	Characterizing an Objective	242
	Community Objective Selection	245
	Are the Objectives Sustainable?	248
	SWOT Analysis—(S)trength, (W)eakness, (O)pportunities and (T)hreats	249
	The Process	251
	References	255
11	Developing a Strategic Sustainability Plan	257
	What Is Strategic Planning?	257
	The Idea of Planning	258
	Strategy Development	260
	Full Participatory Approach	261
	What Makes Strategic Planning Sustainable?	264
	The Design Charrette to Develop A plan	266
	Benefits of the Charrette Process	269
	Choosing Promising Strategic Actions	270
	Defining Community Strategies	270
	Criteria for Choosing Promising Practices	272

- Promoting the Strategic Plan and Obtaining Community Feedback . . . 274
 - Advocacy Plan 274
 - Constituency Feedback 275
- References 276
- 12 Evaluating Community Improvement 279
 - What Is Community Project Assessment? 280
 - Project Assessment Is about Feedback 280
 - Purposes for Conducting an Assessment 281
 - Choosing Assessment Questions 282
 - Best Times and Ways to Assess 285
 - Benefits of Assessment 288
 - Development of Indicators 290
 - Importance of Baseline Measures 291
 - What Is an Indicator? 292
 - The Sustainability Test for Indicators 294
 - Systemic Indicator Application 294
 - Indicator Examples 296
 - Sustainability Indicators: Case Histories 296
 - Communities Count 297
 - B-Sustainable 298
 - Framework for Overall SCD Program Evaluation 299
 - Steps and Standards of Program Evaluation 299
 - Revisit the CSA Scorecard Process 301
 - References 301
- 13 Sustainability and Governance 303
 - Promoting Sustainability Governance 304
 - Cultural Change and Governance 304
 - Leveraging Transformation in Governance 305
 - Governance Involves More Than Formal Authority 306
 - Sustainability Requires New Forms of Governance 306
 - Advocating for Social Planning and Policy Change 308
 - Why Engage in Legislative Advocacy? 308
 - What Is Social Planning? 309
 - Why Engage in a Participatory Social Planning Process? 310
 - Why Should Community Members Engage in Social Planning? 311
 - Community-Based Research to Support Policy Changes 312
 - Linking Sustainability to Governance 314
 - Carrying-Out a Sustainability Policy Proposal 317
 - Sustainable Community Development Code Framework 320
 - Creating Model Ordinance Examples 321
 - Process Used to Create Model Ordinances (MN) 321
 - Sustainable Communities Initiative: Sustainability in Local Policy 323
 - Salt Lake City Ordinances 323

- Code and Ordinance Sustainability Recommendations (VA) 324
- Maryland Sustainable Communities 324
- International Law and Policy 325
- References 328
- 14 Key Community Issues for Change 329
 - Water Supply 330
 - Climate Change 333
 - Global Warming 333
 - Greenhouse Gas Effects 335
 - Climate Action Planning 338
 - Hope for the Future 340
 - Energy 342
 - Fossil Fuel Economy 342
 - Alternative Energy Strategies 344
 - Environmental Protection 347
 - Human–Nature Interactions 348
 - Ecosystem Services 349
 - Action Planning 350
 - Food Systems 352
 - Community Food Security 353
 - Agriculture and the Environment 357
 - Waste and Garbage 358
 - Solid Waste 358
 - Sewage 360
 - Hazardous Waste 361
 - Handling Wastes 361
 - Land Use 362
 - Mixed-Use Development 364
 - Conservation-Based Development 367
 - Low Impact Development 370
 - Transportation 372
 - Complete Streets 373
 - Public Transit 374
 - Urban Bicycling 375
 - Pedestrian Mobility 376
 - Automobile Parking 377
 - Community Transportation Choices 378
 - Transportation’s Impact on Other Issues 379
 - Green Building 382
 - Integrated Design Approach 385
 - Integrated Team Process 386
 - A Holistic Design Philosophy 387
 - Economic Security 388
 - Conventional Economy 389

- Sustainable Economy 391
- Today’s Reality of Conventional versus Sustainable Economies . . . 396
- Dauphin Island Case Study 398
- Reversing Economic Leakage 399
- Conclusion 401
- References 402
- 15 Case Study Examples of SCD 405
 - What to Look For 406
 - Village Homes, Davis (CA, USA) 408
 - Vancouver (BC, Canada) 410
 - Resort Municipality of Whistler (BC, Canada) 411
 - Chequamegon (WI, USA) 413
 - Swedish Communities (Scandinavia) 415
 - Dauphin Island (AL, USA) 416
 - LA Crosse (WI, USA) 417
 - References 419
- 16 Financial Sources for Sustainability Actions 421
 - Where to Start in Thinking About Financial Support? 422
 - Long-Term Project Financial Planning 426
 - Marketing the SCD Initiative to Secure Financial Support 428
 - Obtaining Public Funding 429
 - Soliciting Contributions 431
 - Seeking Corporate Resources 432
 - Preparation 432
 - Execution 433
 - Innovative and Imaginative Funding Alternatives 434
 - Dauphin Island SCD Project Example 434
 - Whistler (BC) Sustainability Program 435
 - Community Business Incubator 436
 - Micro-Grant Programs 436
 - References 438
- 17 Final Thoughts 441
 - Where We Are and What We Can Do? 441
 - Listing of SCD Tool Kits for Practitioners 446
 - References 447
- Index 449

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4614-5099-3>

Practice of Sustainable Community Development

A Participatory Framework for Change

Flint, R.W.

2013, XXVI, 458 p., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-1-4614-5099-3