

Contents

Introduction	xiii
1 Basic Elements of Didactique	1
Background and Development of the Field	1
Some Specific Ideas and Situations	7
Three Basic Situations	9
Non-situations	11
Didactical and A-Didactical Situations	12
Situation of Institutionalization.....	12
Epistemological, Ontogenic and Didactical Obstacles	13
The Didactical Contract	14
In the Guise of a Conclusion.....	18
2 Two Illustrative Examples	21
A Didactical Situation: The Thickness of a Sheet of Paper	22
Preparation of the Materials and the Setting	22
First Phase: Search for a Code (About 20–25 min)	23
Second Phase: Communication Game (10–15 min)	24
Third Phase: Result of the Games and the Codes (20–25 min)	25
Comparison of Thicknesses and Equivalent Pairs	28
First Phase (25–30 min).....	28
Second Phase: Completion of Table; Search for Missing Values (20–25 min).....	29
Third Phase: Communication Game (15 min).....	30
Summary of the Rest of the Sequence (Session 3)	30
Another Situation: The puzzle	31
The Problem-Situation	31
Instructions.....	32
Development.....	32
Summary: Analysis of the Two Situations	34

3 A Fundamental Situation for Statistics	37
The Fundamental Situation	37
Introducing Statistics	38
First Session: A Curious Guessing Game	38
Second Session: The Numbers of Outcomes	40
Third Session: Composition of the Bags and Outcomes of Draws.....	42
Fourth Session: Distributions of Outcomes	43
Fifth Session: Frequencies	44
Sixth Session: Models to Know Whether the Statistics Correspond to the Contents.....	45
Seventh Session: Variations on the Length of the Series	46
Eighth Session: All Possible Models... ..	48
And Beyond... ..	49
4 Gaël and the Didactical Contract	53
5 Glossary of Terms Used in Didactique.....	65
Bibliography	71
Index.....	73

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4614-8198-0>

Invitation to Didactique

Warfield, V.M.

2014, XV, 74 p. 7 illus., Softcover

ISBN: 978-1-4614-8198-0