We wish to first express gratitude to our contributors and to Series Editor Dan Christie for their time and forbearance in working with us. We also want to thank the numerous agencies, individuals, family members and colleagues who have offered direction, suggestions and critical observations and above all cooperative support. We are pleased to present these materials in behalf of a greater understanding and application of personal peacefulness. Without the support of the many sources and resources from which our efforts have benefitted, there is little question that this effort would not have been possible.

The Editors,
Gregory, Linden, and Mindy
Personal Peacefulness
Psychological Perspectives
Sims, G.K.; Nelson, L.L.; Puopolo, M.R. (Eds.)
2014, XIII, 285 p. 6 illus., Hardcover