

Contents

1	Introduction	1
	1.1 Author's Note One	1
	1.2 God and Skepticism	7
	1.3 God, Fantasy, and Science Fiction	10
	1.4 God and Science	16
	1.5 Author's Note Two	20
2	Religious Science Fiction Before Science Fiction	29
	2.1 The 'Start' of Modern SF	29
	2.2 Before the 'Start' of SF	32
	2.3 Early Theological SF	35
	2.4 Theological Maturity	47
3	Time, Space, God's Omniscience, and Free Will	49
	3.1 What Is Time?	49
	3.2 Time in SF and Theology	50
	3.3 The Four-Dimensional World	52
	3.4 The Block Universe	55
	3.5 God's Omniscience in Theology and SF	60
4	Religious Robots	69
	4.1 Alan Turing, Artificial Minds, and the Souls of Machines	69
	4.2 Asimov's Robotic Laws	83
	4.3 Robots and God	88
5	Computers as Gods	95
	5.1 Computers as Local Gods	95
	5.2 Computers as Planet-Wide Gods	98
	5.3 Computers as Known-Universe Gods	103
6	Space Travel, Radio, and Alien Encounters	109
	6.1 The Fiction of Interstellar Space Travel	109
	6.2 Theology, Space Travel, and Early Fictional Alien Encounters	114
	6.3 Interstellar Radio Messages	121
	6.4 Direct Encounters	135

7	Time Traveling to Jesus	147
7.1	Time Travel: Fact or Fantasy?	147
7.2	Theology and the Past	151
7.3	Jesus and Time Travelers	162
7.4	Quantum Mechanics and God	169
8	What If God Revealed Himself?	175
8.1	Not So Serious Speculations	175
8.2	(Slightly) More Serious Speculations	178
8.3	The End of It All	183
	Appendix 1: Matching Wits with ‘God’	187
	Appendix 2: (fantasy)	193
	Appendix 3: “A Father’s Gift”	199
	Appendix 4: “Applied Mathematical Theology”	209
	Appendix 5: “Gravity’s Whispers”	213
	Bibliography of Short Stories Cited	217
	Index	221

<http://www.springer.com/978-1-4939-0617-8>

Holy Sci-Fi!

Where Science Fiction and Religion Intersect

Nahin, P.J.

2014, XVIII, 224 p. 8 illus., 3 illus. in color., Softcover

ISBN: 978-1-4939-0617-8