
Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Assessing the Added Value of Human Resource Management Practices | 1 |
| Maike Andresen | |
| Adding Value and HRM Practice | 15 |
| Dirk Buyens and Jasmijn Verbrigghe | |
| Realizing the Highest Value of Investments in Talent Management | 31 |
| Mariëlle Sonnenberg and Vera van Zijderveld | |
| How to Evaluate Employer Brands: A Monetary Approach | 53 |
| Pascal Güntürkün, Till Haumann, and Alfred Lukasczyk | |
| Assessing the Return on Investments in Human Resource Development | 69 |
| Cornelia Tonhäuser and Susan Seeber | |
| The Added Value of Expatriation | 89 |
| Yvonne McNulty | |
| A Look Into the Future: Is Working Time Freedom Apt to Add Value for Different Stakeholders? | 107 |
| Maike Andresen | |
| Creating Value Through Occupational Health Management | 125 |
| Karlheinz Sonntag and Ralf Stegmaier | |
| Investments in Work-Life-Balance Pay Off | 147 |
| Manfred Bührmann | |
| Investing in the Subjective Well-Being of Temporary Workers | 163 |
| Susanne Imhof | |
| Added Value of Employee Financial Participation | 181 |
| Erik Poutsma and Eric Kaarsemaker | |

Does Employee Downsizing Really Work? 197
Deepak K. Datta and Dynah A. Basuil

Determining Outcomes of HRM Practices 223
Wolfgang Becker, Bianca Brandt, and Harald Eggeling

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-08185-4>

Human Resource Management Practices

Assessing Added Value

Andresen, M.; Nowak, C. (Eds.)

2015, VI, 235 p. 27 illus., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-08185-4