

Contents

1	What Is Socialization	1
1.1	The Organisation of the Book	1
1.2	Understanding Socialization	2
1.3	The Child as an Object or a Subject; Socialization and the Question of Agency	3
1.4	Basic Dimensions of Socialization.	6
	References	7
 Part I Socialization in the Social Sciences
2	Socialization in Sociological Perspectives	11
2.1	Socialization, Social Structure and Cultural Patterns	11
2.2	Primary Versus Secondary Socialization	13
2.3	Socialization Through Role Models and Roles	15
2.4	Play, Role Play and the Perspective of the Other	17
2.5	Cultural Discourses and Socialization; the Cultural Constitution of the Subject.	19
2.6	The Cultural Landscape of Media and Consumption	21
2.7	Socialization and the Images of Children and Childhood	22
2.8	Disciplination and Cultural Release.	24
2.9	Individuation and Individualization	25
2.10	Socialization and Class Culture	26
2.11	Socialization and Well-Being	28
2.12	The Constitution of Meaning and Reflexivity	29
2.13	The Social Roots of Motivation	31
	References	32
3	Socialization in Anthropological Perspectives	37
3.1	Socialization and Cultural Variation.	37
3.2	Culture and Personality	40
3.3	Institutionalized Socialization	41

3.4	Language Games; Socialization into the Unions of Meaning and Praxes.	43
3.5	Transitions, Liminality and Twilight Zones.	46
	References.	48
4	Socialization in Psychological Perspectives.	51
4.1	Socialization in Psychoanalytic Understanding.	51
4.2	Cognitive Developmental Psychology.	54
4.3	Social Decentering; Taking the Perspective of the Other.	56
4.4	Social-Cognitive Development.	57
4.5	Phases in Childhood and Adolescence in Psychological Theory.	58
4.6	Socialization and the Family.	60
4.7	Socialization and Peers.	62
	References.	64
5	Socialization and Life Course Analyses.	67
5.1	Demographics, Life Course Analyses and Socialization.	67
5.2	Life Course, Life Phases and Historical Change.	69
5.3	Life Course and Identity Construction.	71
5.4	Generations and Generation Gaps.	72
5.5	Life Course and Generational Exchange.	74
5.6	Socialization, Life Course and Well-Being.	75
	References.	76
6	Socialization as Biological-Social Interaction.	79
6.1	The Evolutionary Frameworks of Socialization.	79
6.2	Vulnerability and Development.	82
6.3	Social Background as a Process.	85
	References.	86
7	Understanding Socialization.	89
7.1	Culturalization, Differentiation and Emancipation.	89
7.2	Desire, Language and the Symbolic Order.	91
7.3	The Driving Forces of Socialization.	92
7.4	The Desire for Recognition.	93
7.5	The Will to Meaning.	95
	References.	96
 Part II The Knowledge Societies and the Structuring of Socialization and the Life Course
8	The Knowledge Society.	101
8.1	The Coming of the Knowledge Society.	101
8.2	Socialization in the Knowledge-Based Economies.	104
8.3	Capability and Transformative Learning.	106
	References.	107

- 9 The Knowledge Society and Life Phase Dynamics 109
 - 9.1 Life Course and Life Phases 109
 - 9.2 Babyhood and Toddlerhood: The Foundation of Development . . . 110
 - 9.3 Middle Childhood: From Latency to Learning 111
 - 9.4 Tweens and Puberty: From Confusion to Navigation 111
 - 9.5 Adolescence: From Liminality to Qualification. 112
 - 9.6 Singles, Friends and Navigation: From Instant
Family to Emerging Adulthood 113
 - 9.7 Family and Peers in the Knowledge Society 114
 - 9.8 The Restructuring of Girls' Social World:
From Family and Traditions to Peers 115
 - References 116

- 10 Understanding Socialization: Some Concluding Reflections 117
 - 10.1 The Autonomous Child: The Meaning of Agency 117
 - 10.2 Existence Precedes Essence 118
 - References 119

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-25098-4>

The Autonomous Child
Theorizing Socialization

Frønes, I.

2016, IX, 119 p., Softcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-25098-4