

Contents

Introduction . . . . .	1
Volker Mauerhofer
Part I Horizontal Policies: General Aspects
The Circulation of the Model of Sustainable Development: Tracing the Path in a Comparative Law Perspective . . . . .	13
Ivano Alogna
3-D Sustainability and Its Contribution to Governance Assessment in Legal Terms: Examples and Perspectives . . . . .	35
Volker Mauerhofer
Sustainability—A Long, Hard Road . . . . .	57
Ferdinand Kerschner and Erika Wagner
Part II Horizontal Policies: Human and Intellectual Property Rights
Environmental Sustainability as a Human Right . . . . .	81
Rasyikah Md Khalid, Faridah Jalil and Mazlin Bin Mokhtar
Ensuring Access to Safe Drinking Water as an Imperative of Sustainable Development . . . . .	95
Vasilka Sancin and Maša Kovič Dine
Ensuring a Sustainable Future Through Recognizing and Protecting Indigenous Ecological Knowledge . . . . .	109
Natalie P. Stoianoff

Part III Horizontal policies: Communication and Social Enterprise Governance

Framing New Environmental Cultures for Sustainability. Communication and Sensemaking in Three Intractable Multiparty Conflicts in the EbreBiosfera, Spain . . . . .	127
Jordi Prades and Aitana De la Varga

An Empirical Investigation of Supportive Legal Frameworks for Social Enterprises in Belgium: A Cross-Sectoral Comparison of Case Studies Concerning Social Enterprises in the Social Housing, Finance and Energy Sector . . . . .	151
Aikaterini Argyrou, Tineke Elisabeth Lambooy, Robert Jan Blomme, Henk Kievit, Guus Nieuwenhuijzen Kruseman and Duco Hora Siccama

Part IV Horizontal Policies: Public Participation

Judicial Control Over Acts of Administrative Omission: Environmental Rule of Law and Recent Case Law in Japan . . . . .	189
Noriko Okubo

Examining the Resilience of Public Participation Structures for Sustainable Mining in the Philippines . . . . .	203
Weena Gera

Public Participation and Constitutional Impediments to Sustainable Development in Nigeria . . . . .	233
Taiwo Odumosu

Part V Horizontal Policies: Assessment Tools

A Global Conceptual Framework for Categorizing Environmental Change Based on Property Rights and Compensation . . . . .	251
Volker Mauerhofer

Prioritising the Environment in Sustainable Development: Lessons from Australian Environmental Impact Assessment . . . . .	271
Sophie Riley

Reframing Sustainability in Taiwan: Legal Challenges and Opportunities . . . . .	289
Yao-Ming Hsu

Part VI Sectorial Policies: Forest and Water Management

A Legal Butterfly Effect: Unexpected Twists and Turns of the Law in Costa Rica’s Payment for Ecosystem Services Program . . . . .	305
Pablo G. Peña

From River Basins to Landscapes—Holistic Legal Constructs and Their Differentiation . . . . .	327
Henrik Josefsson

Coherence Issues Between Climate, Energy and Water in the Case of European Hydropower: Can We Have It All? . . . . .	347
Jonida Abazaj

Part VII Sectorial Policies: Renewable Energy

Generating Renewable Energy for the Material Realization of Sustainable Development: What Do We Need from Multilateral Cooperation, the Climate Change and the International Trade Regimes? . . . . .	373
Marco Citelli

The Fair and Equitable Treatment Standard and the Revocation of Feed in Tariffs—Foreign Renewable Energy Investments in Crisis-Struck Spain . . . . .	389
Thomas Dromgool and Daniel Ybarra Enguix

Horizontal and Vertical Integration of Sustainability into Policymaking, Planning and Implementation of Renewable Energy Projects—The New Zealand Model . . . . .	423
David Grinlinton

Tackling Climate Change Through the Elimination of Trade Barriers for Low-Carbon Goods: Multilateral, Plurilateral and Regional Approaches. . . . . .	449
Christopher Frey

Part VIII Sectorial Policies: Cities, Waste and Material Management

Environmental Integration in China’s Eco-city Development—From an Institutional Perspective . . . . .	471
Ying Yin

Identifying the Interaction Between Landfill Taxes and NIMBY. A Simulation for Flanders (Belgium) Using a Dynamic Optimization Model . . . . .	497
Rob Hoogmartens, Maarten Dubois and Steven Van Passel

Pressing Forward—Developments in the Transition Towards Sustainable Materials Management in EU Environmental Law . . . . .	511
Thomas J. de Römph
Part IX Sectorial Policies: Biodiversity, Nature Conservation, Oceans and Spatial Planning
Sustainable Development: New Thoughts, New Policy, New Law? . . . .	535
Frederik Hendrik Kistenkas
Sustainable Development of the Oceans: Closing the Gaps in the International Legal Framework . . . . .	549
Glen Wright, Julien Rochette and Thomas Greiber
Knowledge in Sustainable Resource Management in Australia. . . . .	565
Judith Preston
Part X Sectorial Policies: Agriculture and Rural Policy
The Sustainable Use of Biodiversity and Its Implications in Agriculture: The Agroforestry Case in the Brazilian Legal Framework . . . . .	585
Marcia Fajardo Cavalcanti de Albuquerque
Next Generation Rural Natural Resource Governance: A Careful Diagnosis. . . . .	607
Paul Martin and Jacqueline Williams
Part XI Conclusions
Conclusions. . . . .	631
Volker Mauerhofer
Index . . . . .	641

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-26019-8>

Legal Aspects of Sustainable Development

Horizontal and Sectorial Policy Issues

Mauerhofer, V. (Ed.)

2016, X, 647 p. 21 illus., 15 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-26019-8