

Contents

1 Introduction.....	1
Kenneth C. Nystrom
Part I Evidence from Early Colonial America
2 Renaissance Anatomy in the Americas: A Bioarchaeological Perspective on the Earliest Skeletal Evidence of Autopsy in the New World.....	25
Thomas A. Crist and Marcella H. Sorg
3 Evidence for Early Seventeenth-Century Surgery and Dissection at James Fort, Virginia	41
Karin S. Bruwelheide, Douglas W. Owsley, Beverly A. Straube, and Jamie E. May
4 A Dissection at the Coffeehouse? The Performance of Anatomical Expertise in Colonial America	61
Ellen Chapman and Mark Kostro
Part II Evidence from Public Cemeteries
5 Partible Persons or Persons Apart: Postmortem Interventions at the Spring Street Presbyterian Church, Manhattan	87
Shannon A. Novak
Part III Evidence from Medical Institutions
6 Teachings of the Dead: The Archaeology of Anatomized Remains from Holden Chapel, Harvard University	115
Christina J. Hodge, Jane Lyden Rousseau, and Michèle E. Morgan

7 Skeletal Evidence of Anatomical and Surgical Training in Nineteenth-Century Richmond 143
 Douglas W. Owsley, Karin S. Bruwelheide, Richard L. Jantz, Jodi L. Koste, and Merry Outlaw

8 Structural Violence in New Orleans: Skeletal Evidence from Charity Hospital’s Cemeteries, 1847–1929..... 165
 Christine L. Halling and Ryan M. Seidemann

9 Dissection and Documented Skeletal Collections: Embodiments of Legalized Inequality 185
 Jennifer L. Muller, Kristen E. Pearlstein, and Carlina de la Cova

Part IV Evidence from Almshouse Cemeteries

10 Autopsy, Dissection, and Anatomical Exploration: The Postmortem Fate of the Underclass and Institutionalized in Old Milwaukee..... 205
 Sean P. Dougherty and Norman C. Sullivan

11 “You Couldn’t Identify Your Grandmother If She Were in that Party”: The Bioarchaeology of Postmortem Investigation at the Milwaukee County Poor Farm Cemetery 237
 Patricia B. Richards, Catherine R. Jones, Emily Mueller Epstein, Nicholas W. Richards, Brooke L. Drew, and Thomas J. Zych

12 “The Mangled Remains of What Had Been Humanity”: Evidence of Autopsy and Dissection at Philadelphia’s Blockley Almshouse, 1835–1895 259
 Thomas A. Crist, Douglas B. Mooney, and Kimberly A. Morrell

13 Structural Inequality and Postmortem Examination at the Erie County Poorhouse..... 279
 Kenneth C. Nystrom, Joyce Sirianni, Rosanne Higgins, Douglas Perrelli, and Jennifer L. Liber Raines

14 Exploring Evidence of Nineteenth Century Dissection in the Dunning Poorhouse Cemetery 301
 Anne L. Grauer, Vanessa Lathrop, and Taylor Timoteo

15 A Historical and Osteological Analysis of Postmortem Medical Practices from the Albany County Almshouse Cemetery Skeletal Sample in Albany, New York 315
 Kim Lusignan Lowe

16 Conclusion: The Anthropology of Dissection and Autopsy..... 335
 Kenneth C. Nystrom

Index..... 345

<http://www.springer.com/978-3-319-26834-7>

The Bioarchaeology of Dissection and Autopsy in the United States

Nystrom, K.C. (Ed.)

2017, XIX, 346 p. 99 illus., 66 illus. in color., Hardcover

ISBN: 978-3-319-26834-7