Part I  Liberalism and Neutrality

1  Liberalism and Neutrality: A Philosophical Examination
1.1  Introduction
1.2  What Kind of Neutrality Do We Want?
1.3  Neutrality: Where, When and Who?
1.4  Neutrality and Antiperfectionism
References

2  Comprehensive and Political Antiperfectionism
2.1  Introduction
2.2  Comprehensive Antiperfectionism: A Theory of Justice
2.3  Political Antiperfectionism: Political Liberalism
2.4  Is There a Neutral Justification for a Neutral (Antiperfectionist) Policy?
References

3  Autonomy-Based Liberalism and Political Perfectionism
3.1  Introduction
3.2  What Is Autonomy?
3.3  Comprehensive Perfectionism: Joseph Raz
3.3.1  Perfectionism, Intrinsic Value and Autonomy
3.4  Comprehensive Antiperfectionism: Will Kymlicka
3.4.1  Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Societal Cultures
3.5  Political Perfectionism: Joseph Chan
3.5.1  Political Perfectionism
3.5.2  Multicentered Perfectionism
3.5.3  Valuable Options, Autonomy and Neutrality: Chan or Kymlicka?
References
<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Section</th>
<th>Page</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>4  Reformation Liberalism and Liberal Neutrality:</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Galston and Kukathas</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.1 Introduction</td>
<td>35</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2 Non-Autonomy-Based Liberal Pluralism: William Galston</td>
<td>36</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2.1 Liberalism, Public Purposes and Minimal Perfectivism</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.2.2 Galston’s Liberal Pluralism: Autonomy-Based?</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3 Non-Autonomy-based Libertarianism: Chandran Kukathas</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3.1 Tolerance, Exit and Education</td>
<td>40</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.3.2 The Consequences of Kukathas’s Minimalist State</td>
<td>42</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>4.4 Provisional Conclusion: Autonomy-Based Liberalism and Liberal Neutrality</td>
<td>43</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>44</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5  Ronald Dworkin: Liberal Neutrality and Subsidizing Art</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.1 Introduction</td>
<td>45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.2 Dworkin’s Egalitarian Liberalism</td>
<td>46</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.3 Liberal Neutrality and State Subsidies for Art</td>
<td>47</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>5.4 Dworkin and State Support for Art: Objections</td>
<td>49</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>52</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6  John Rawls: Liberal Neutrality and Subsidizing Art</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.1 Introduction</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.2 Rawls on Public Goods</td>
<td>53</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.3 Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Art:</td>
<td>55</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>The Criterion of Unanimity</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.4 Rawls and State Support for Art: Objections</td>
<td>57</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>6.5 Perfectionist Goods, Nonperfectionist Goods, Public</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Goods and Nonpublic Goods: A Conceptual Clarification</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7  Autonomy-Based Liberalism and State Support for Art:</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>An Antiperfectionist Justification</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.1 Introduction</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.2 State Support for Art: An Antiperfectionist Justification</td>
<td>61</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.3 Neutral State Support for Art: Criteria</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.3.1 Primary Criteria</td>
<td>65</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.3.2 Secondary Criteria</td>
<td>67</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.4 How Should a Liberal State Support Art?</td>
<td>68</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>7.5 Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Art: Conclusion</td>
<td>71</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>References</td>
<td>72</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Part II  Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Religion</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8  Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Religion</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.1 Introduction</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>8.2 Institutionalized Religion: Perfectionist or Nonperfectionist Good?</td>
<td>76</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Contents
8.3 Active State Support for Institutionalized Religion: Criteria ......... 79
  8.3.1 State Support for Institutionalized Religion:
      Primary Criteria......................................................... 79
  8.3.2 State Support for Institutionalized Religion:
      Secondary Criteria................................................... 81
8.4 Should a Liberal State Support Religion? ...................................... 85
8.5 How Should a Liberal State Support Religion? .............................. 86
  8.5.1 Different Models of Support .......................................... 86
  8.5.2 Dividing Subsidies ....................................................... 88
References ...................................................................................... 89

9 Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Faith-Based Schools ......... 91
  9.1 Introduction........................................................................... 91
  9.2 Faith-Based Schools: Perfectionist or Nonperfectionist Goods? .................................................... 91
  9.3 State Support for Faith-Based Schools: Criteria ....................... 94
      9.3.1 State Support for Faith-Based Schools:
            Primary Criteria..................................................... 94
      9.3.2 State Support for Faith-Based Schools:
            Secondary Criteria................................................. 96
  9.4 State Schools or a Mixed System?............................................ 105
References ...................................................................................... 106

10 Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Religious Education ....... 109
  10.1 Introduction........................................................................... 109
  10.2 Education into Religion: Perfectionist
or Nonperfectionist Good? .................................................... 110
  10.3 State Support for Education into Religion: Criteria .................. 111
      10.3.1 State Support for Education into Religion:
            Primary Criteria..................................................... 111
      10.3.2 State Support for Education into Religion:
            Secondary Criteria................................................. 113
  10.4 Education into Religion and Liberal Neutrality:
            Different Models..................................................... 118
  10.5 Education About Religion: Perfectionist
or Nonperfectionist Good? .................................................... 119
  10.6 State Support for Education About Religion: Criteria ............. 120
      10.6.1 Education About Religion: The State’s Responsibility .... 120
      10.6.2 Teacher-Training and the Religious Studies Approach .... 120
      10.6.3 Education About Religion as a Neutral or Impartial Subject..................................................... 121
  10.7 Conclusion: State Support for Education About and into Religion?..................................................... 123
References ...................................................................................... 124
Part III Church-State Models and Liberal Neutrality

11 Church and State: Legal Framework and Typology ........................................ 127
   11.1 Introduction.................................................................................................. 127
   11.2 Freedom of Religion in an International Context:
       Human Rights Law and the European Convention on Human Rights (ECHR) .................................................... 127
   11.3 Church-State Models: Typology .............................................................. 131
       References ................................................................................................ 133

12 Political Secularism: Passive and Assertive .............................................. 135
   12.1 Introduction.................................................................................................. 135
   12.2 Passive Secularism: The United States .................................................. 136
       12.2.1 Institutionalized Religion in the United States.......................... 136
       12.2.2 Institutionalized Religion in the United States:
          Evaluation............................................................................................ 138
       12.2.3 Religion and Education in the United States............................... 138
   12.3 Assertive Secularism: France ................................................................. 142
       12.3.1 Institutionalized Religion in France ............................................. 142
       12.3.2 Institutionalized Religion in France: Evaluation ......................... 144
       12.3.3 Religion and Education in France .............................................. 145
   12.4 Political Secularism: Passive or Assertive? ........................................... 147
       References ................................................................................................ 148

13 Active State Support for Religion ............................................................... 149
   13.1 Introduction.................................................................................................. 149
   13.2 Fixed Compulsory Taxes: Belgium .......................................................... 149
       13.2.1 Institutionalized Religion in Belgium ........................................ 149
       13.2.2 The Belgian Policy of Support: Evaluation ................................. 151
       13.2.3 Religion and Education in Belgium .......................................... 156
   13.3 Religiously-Oriented Taxes: Italy ............................................................. 162
       13.3.1 Institutionalized Religion in Italy .............................................. 162
       13.3.2 The Italian Policy of Support: Evaluation .................................... 164
       13.3.3 Religion and Education in Italy .............................................. 166
   13.4 Voluntary Religious Taxes: Germany ..................................................... 168
       13.4.1 Institutionalized Religion in Germany ....................................... 168
       13.4.2 The German System of Support: Evaluation ............................. 170
       13.4.3 Religion and Education in Germany ......................................... 171
   13.5 Liberal Neutrality and Active State Support for Religion: Evaluation............................................................................. 176
       13.5.1 State Support for Institutionalized Religion .................................. 176
       13.5.2 Religion and Education ............................................................... 178
       13.5.3 Conclusion.................................................................................... 179
       References ................................................................................................ 179
14 State Church or Established Church .................................................. 183
14.1 Introduction .................................................................................... 183
14.2 State Church with a Symbolic and a Financial Monopoly: Greece ............................................................................... 184
  14.2.1 Institutionalized Religion in Greece ...................................... 184
  14.2.2 The State Church in Greece: Evaluation .............................. 186
  14.2.3 Religion and Education in Greece ...................................... 188
  14.2.4 Religion and Education in Greece: Evaluation ..................... 189
14.3 State Church with a Symbolic Privilege: United Kingdom .......... 190
  14.3.1 Institutionalized Religion in the UK ................................ 190
  14.3.2 The State Church in the UK: Evaluation ............................ 191
  14.3.3 Religion and Education in the UK (England) .................... 192
14.4 Liberal Neutrality and Church Establishment: Evaluation .......... 196
References .......................................................................................... 197

Liberal Neutrality and State Support for Religion:
A Contradiction in Terms? .................................................................. 199
References .......................................................................................... 202

About the Author .................................................................................. 203

Court Cases .......................................................................................... 205
  American (Supreme) Court Cases ................................................... 205
  European Supreme Court Cases ..................................................... 205
  UN Human Rights Committee Cases .......................................... 206

Index .................................................................................................... 207