Contents

1 Comparative Ecocriticism: An Introduction 1
   References 9

Part I Toward a Theory of Entanglement

2 Deconstructive Ecocriticism 13
   Revisiting the Sublime: From Nature to Ecology 13
   Textual and Ecological Entanglements: From the Book of Nature to the Ecological Text 26
   References 49

3 (Post)Humanist Tangles in Social Ecology and New Materialism 53
   Social Ecology and Dialectical Naturalism 55
   Of Originary Con-Tact: A New Materialist Ontology 67
   References 80
Part II  Collective Living, Connective Reading

4  Intimate Multitudes: Juliana Spahr’s Ecopoetics  85
   The Law of Genre  85
   On Breathing and Touching: A Space with no Edges  102
   Local-Global Interactions: A Question of Scale  113
   References  121

5  Entwined Narratives: Latife Tekin’s Ecopoetics  127
   The Law of Genre  127
   A Feminist Manifesto Against Linguistic Monocropping  141
   Poetics of Waste: Collecting Words and Garbage  158
   References  164

Part III  Bodies, Ecologies, Politics

6  Juliana Spahr’s Anticolonial Ecologies  169
   Rewriting Bad History: Neocolonialism and Militourism  169
   Vital Liquidity: On the Problem of Analogy  184
   Permeable Bodies and the Touch of (Non)Human Otherness  190
   References  198

7  Latife Tekin’s Urban Ecologies  201
   Neoliberalism, Privatization, and the Body Ecopolitic  201
   Cultures of Waste and the “Proletariat Lung”  212
   Materiality of Waste and Toxic Transcorporeality  221
   References  228

8  Epilogue: Entanglement and Eco-Responsibility  233
   References  235

Index  237
The Ecopoetics of Entanglement in Contemporary Turkish and American Literatures
Ergin, M.
2017, X, 244 p., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-319-63262-9