Contents

1. Introduction: Centring Animals Within Medical History
   - 1.1 Why Animals? ............................................. 4
   - 1.2 Writing Animal Histories ............................... 7
   - 1.3 Animals in Medical History ............................ 11
   - 1.4 One Health and its Histories .......................... 14
   Bibliography .................................................... 20

2. Doctors in the Zoo: Connecting Human and Animal Health in British Zoological Gardens, c.1828–1890
   - 2.1 Disease and Death in the Zoo .......................... 32
     - 2.1.1 Public Health ......................................... 35
     - 2.1.2 Bedside Medicine .................................... 39
     - 2.1.3 Hospital Medicine .................................... 43
   - 2.2 Comparative Perspectives ............................... 46
     - 2.2.1 The Pursuit of Comparative Pathology .......... 49
     - 2.2.2 Tuberculosis and Rickets .......................... 54
   - 2.3 Conclusion ................................................ 58
   Bibliography .................................................... 61
3 From Coordinated Campaigns to Watertight Compartments: Diseased Sheep and their Investigation in Britain, c.1880–1920
Abigail Woods
3.1 Coordinated Campaigns
3.2 Research Reconfigurations
3.3 Watertight Compartments
3.4 Conclusion
Bibliography

4 From Healthy Cows to Healthy Humans: Integrated Approaches to World Hunger, c.1930–1965
Michael Bresalier
4.1 Cows in Interwar Medicine and Agriculture
4.2 War and its Aftermath
4.3 Healthy Cows, Healthy Humans
4.4 Conclusion
Bibliography

5 The Parasitological Pursuit: Crossing Species and Disciplinary Boundaries with Calvin W. Schwabe and the Echinococcus Tapeworm, 1956–1975
Rachel Mason Dentinger
5.1 Pursuing Echinococcus in Beirut: The Parasitology of Calvin W. Schwabe
5.2 Echinococcus Leaves the Laboratory: Schwabe’s Parasitology at the Population Level
5.3 Following Echinococcus Across the Globe: Schwabe’s Persistent Parasitology
5.4 Conclusion
Bibliography

6 Humans, Other Animals and ‘One Health’ in the Early Twenty-First Century
Angela Cassidy
6.1 One Health or Many?
   6.1.1 Calvin Schwabe and One Medicine
   6.1.2 The Wildlife Conservation Society
6.1.3 The Swiss Tropical and Public Health Institute 207
6.1.4 The One Health Initiative and Commission 209
6.2 The Animal Subjects of One Health 214
   6.2.1 Animals in One Health Research Texts 215
   6.2.2 Animals in One Health Imagery 219
6.3 Conclusion 225
Bibliography 227

7 Conclusion 237

Appendix: Annotated Bibliography of Animals
in the History of Medicine 247

Index 269
Animals and the Shaping of Modern Medicine
One Health and its Histories
Woods, A.; Bresalier, M.; Cassidy, A.; Mason Dentinger, R.
2018, XVII, 280 p. 5 illus. in color., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-319-64336-6