Contents

1 Introduction ......................................................... 1
References .......................................................... 4

Part I Theory: Identity and Names

2 Ethnicity, Language and Populations .......................... 9
  2.1 Constructs of Race and Ethnicity .......................... 10
      2.1.1 Race .................................................. 12
      2.1.2 Ethnicity .............................................. 14
      2.1.3 Criticisms ............................................ 15
  2.2 Measurements of Ethnicity .................................. 17
      2.2.1 Measurement in Official Ethnicity Classifications 17
      2.2.2 Issues with Official Ethnicity Classifications .... 18
      2.2.3 The Limits to Comparability Between Research Studies 19
      2.2.4 Alternative Measurements of Ethnic Difference ..... 22
  2.3 Conclusion: Ethnicity, Populations, Languages and Names 24
References ......................................................... 24

3 How We Got Our Names: Identity in Personal Names ....... 29
  3.1 A Very Brief History of Naming Practices ................. 30
  3.2 How We Got Our Surnames: A Typology ..................... 33
  3.3 Identity in Naming Systems and Practices .................. 36
      3.3.1 Surnames and Intergenerational Identity .......... 39
      3.3.2 Forenames and Parental Identity Choice .......... 39
  3.4 From President Washington to Obama: Surnames, Identity and US Immigration Policy 40
  3.5 Conclusion .................................................. 45
References ......................................................... 45
4 Surnames and Genetics ........................................ 49
  4.1 Defining “Populations” in Genetics Studies of Human Difference .................. 51
  4.2 Human and Language Evolution ................................ 52
    4.2.1 Language Evolutionary Trees ..... 53
    4.2.2 From Evolutionary Trees to Frequency Gradients .... 57
  4.3 In the Name of the Father: Surnames and Genetics ....... 59
  4.4 The Isonymy Method ..................................... 66
    4.4.1 Measuring Isonymy ..................................... 67
    4.4.2 Interpreting Isonymy ..................................... 69
    4.4.3 Assumptions in Isonymy .................................. 70
  4.5 Applications of Isonymy .................................... 71
    4.5.1 National and International Analysis of Isonymy ....... 72
    4.5.2 Sub-national Analysis of Isonymy ...................... 73
    4.5.3 Socioeconomic Strata in the Analysis of Isonymy .... 75
  4.6 Conclusion ............................................. 76
References .................................................... 76

5 Forenames and Social Stratification .................................... 81
  5.1 Individual Forename Choice .................................. 82
    5.1.1 Family Connection and Kinship ......................... 84
    5.1.2 Forename Desirability .................................. 86
  5.2 Social Influences in Individual Forenaming Practices .... 90
    5.2.1 Social Identity and the “Forename Pool” .............. 91
    5.2.2 Social Class Influences in Forenaming ............... 93
  5.3 Social Dynamics in Aggregated Forenaming Outcomes ...... 94
    5.3.1 From Custom to Fashion in Forenaming Practices ...... 94
    5.3.2 Top Forenames’ Socio-dynamics ....................... 95
  5.4 Ethnicity and Forenames .................................... 103
    5.4.1 Assimilation vs. Group Identity ....................... 103
    5.4.2 Black Forenames in the U.S. ......................... 109
  5.5 Conclusion ............................................. 110
References .................................................... 111

Part II Methods: Name-Based Ethnicity Classifications

6 Classifying Ethnicity Through People’s Names ...................... 117
  6.1 A Recent History of Name-Based Ethnicity Classifications in the US ............... 118
  6.2 Name-Based Ethnicity Analysis: Building the Classifications ............. 121
    6.2.1 Literature Review ..................................... 122
    6.2.2 Structure of the Selected Studies ..................... 123
    6.2.3 Source Data, Reference and Target Populations .......... 125
    6.2.4 Building Reference Lists ................................ 125
    6.2.5 Minimum Size of the Reference List ................... 128
    6.2.6 Classification of Target Populations ................... 128
6.3 Name-Based Ethnicity Analysis: Evaluating the Classifications
6.3.1 Accuracy Evaluation
6.3.2 Limitations Found in the Methodology
6.3.3 Advantages of the Methodology
6.4 Alternative Approaches to Building Universal Name Classifications
6.4.1 Computational and Marketing Approaches
6.5 Conclusion
References

7 Naming Networks and Clustering
7.1 Previous Research in Forename-Surname Clustering: The CELG Technique
7.1.1 The CELG Technique
7.1.2 A Small Trick; Forenames Are Much More Frequent Than Surnames
7.2 Naming Networks
7.2.1 Representing Forename-Surname Relationships as Networks
7.2.2 Social Network Theory Applied to Naming Communities
7.3 Name Clustering Methodology
7.3.1 Building Naming Networks
7.3.2 One-Mode Naming Networks
7.3.3 Input Data
7.3.4 Network Clustering Analysis
7.4 Analysis of Two Sets of Naming Networks
7.4.1 Auckland’s Naming Network
7.4.2 Global Naming Network
7.4.3 Discussion of Naming Networks Clustering Technique’s Results
7.5 The Onomap Classification
7.5.1 Classifications of Human Groups
7.5.2 Language Classification
7.5.3 The Onomap “Taxonomy”
7.5.4 Building the Onomap Classification
7.6 Conclusion
References

Part III Applications: Mapping Names and Ethnicity

8 The Geography and Ethnicity of People’s Names
8.1 Approaches to the Spatial Analysis of Ethnicity and Migration in Names
Names, Ethnicity and Populations
Tracing Identity in Space
Mateos, P.
2014, XX, 269 p. 55 illus., 27 illus. in color., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-3-642-45412-7