Contents

Part I  Landscape Perception

1. Cultural Landscape: All That People Give Value to in Their Surroundings ................................................................. 3
   Diedrich Bruns

2. Landscape Perception in Japan and Germany ................................ 15
   Hirofumi Ueda

Part II  Planning and Governance

3. New Trend of Landscape Planning and Design in Japan ............... 27
   Mikiko Ishikawa

4. Strategic Practice of Landscape Plan for Development Management with Local Governance in Japan ................................ 57
   Hisako Koura

Part III  Case Studies

5. Landscape Perception of Residents in the Nyu Village, Kushida-River—Including Proposal of a Satochi-Satoyama Connecting Zone ........................................................................................................... 73
   Hiroyuki Shimizu and Chiaki Nakatsuji

   Takashi Tashiro
Contents

7 Planning Invisible Landscapes: Making Invisible Tidal Flat Landscapes Visible for Future Sustainability ........................................ 113
    Hiromi Yamashita

8 A Prospect Toward Establishment of Basic and Clinical Environmental Studies by ORT (On-Site Research Training) .............. 133
    Hirokazu Kato, Hiroyuki Shimizu, Noriyuki Kawamura,
    Yasuhiro Hirano, Takashi Tashiro, Hiromi Yamashita,
    Keisuke Tomita, Mitsuyuki Tomiyoshi, and Kazu Hagihara

Part IV Conclusion

9 New Development in Landscape Planning: Report of the Germany–Japan Symposium and Suggestions on the Research and Practice to be Conducted in the Future .............. 147
    Hiroyuki Shimizu, Akito Murayama, and Kohei Okamoto

Name Index ........................................................................................................... 157

Subject Index ..................................................................................................... 159
Basic and Clinical Environmental Approaches in Landscape Planning
Shimizu, H.; Murayama, A. (Eds.)
2014, XII, 161 p. 129 illus., 118 illus. in color., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-4-431-54414-2