Contents

1 Consumption and Well-Being, An Introduction ............................................. 1
   Miriam Tatzel

Part I  Money and Consumption for Well-Being

2 Money for Happiness: The Hedonic Benefits of Thrift ................................ 13
   Joseph Chancellor and Sonja Lyubomirsky

3 Getting the Most for the Money: The Hedonic Return on Experiential and Material Purchases .................................................... 49
   Travis J. Carter and Thomas Gilovich

4 Loneliness, Material Possession Love, and Consumers’ Physical-Well-Being .......... 63
   John L. Lastovicka and Laurel Anderson

Part II  Individual and Cultural Variations

5 Value Seekers, Big Spenders, Non-Spenders, and Experiencers: Consumption, Personality, and Well-Being .................. 75
   Miriam Tatzel

6 Money, Materialism, and the Good Life: Cultural Perspectives .................... 109
   Christie Napa Scollon and Derrick Wirtz

Part III  Consumption and Sustainable Well-Being

7 Happy Planet, Happy Economy, Happy Consumers? ............................... 129
   Charles Seaford

8 Measuring What Matters ........................................................................... 153
   Eric Zencey
9  Epilogue-Confessions of a Closet Materialist: Lessons Learned about Money, Possessions, and Happiness ............... 175
    Miriam Tatzel

Index. ........................................................... 195
Consumption and Well-Being in the Material World
Tatzel, M. (Ed.)
2014, VIII, 198 p. 18 illus., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-94-007-7367-7