Contents

1 Food Security and the Colonial Impact
   Background and Context ....................................... 1
   Food as a Methodological Lens ................................ 4
   Important Clarifications About Nomenclature ................. 5
      A Personal Journey ........................................... 6
   The Use of the Comparative Socio-Historical Method of Analysis . 10
      Reviewing Historical Texts, Painting, Maps, and Drawings .... 10
   Theorizing Food Between Strangers as Social Exchange .......... 12
   Early Food Knowledge Traces ................................... 12
   Foodways, Colonization and Nationhood ......................... 17
   Structure of the Book .......................................... 19
   Bibliography ................................................... 20

Part I Food and Food Knowledge

2 Framing Indigenous Foodways Prior to Colonization ............... 25
   Indigenous Australian Food Security in Pre-contact Australia .... 29
   Food, Food Gathering, and Food Preparation Traces:
      Categorizing Edible Foods .................................... 34
   Bibliography ................................................... 37

3 Endogenous Edible Foods at First Contact .......................... 41
   What People Were Eating ....................................... 42
      Food Procurement Practices ................................... 50
   Some Thoughts About Water Resources .......................... 57
   Food Preparation ................................................ 58
      Edible Flora and Fauna: Some Cultural Management Practices .... 60
   Conclusion ...................................................... 65
   Bibliography ................................................... 67
4 Bringing Exogenous Foods to Australia

Early European and British Sea Explorers

1770: James Cook and Joseph Banks

Post-Cook Sea Exploration

Food Practices of Sea Explorers

Bibliography

Part II Food Across the Colonial Frontier

5 Surviving the Emergency Food Context

The Emergency Food Context

Food Shortages at First Encounter

(De)Stabilizing Food Resources in the Penal Colony

The First Food Wars?

Diminishing Nutrition

The Question of Eating Different Foods

Food Exchanges and Stealing

Conclusion

Bibliography

6 Provisions, Seed Collectors, and New Foods

Securing Reliability in Exploration Food Provisioning

Understanding the Local Ecology

New Foods on Traditional Estates

Beginnings of the Ecological Transformation

Conclusion

Bibliography

7 French Explorations and Le Gastronomie

French Expedition Food

Eating Locally

Some French Food Practices Examined

Conclusion

Bibliography

8 Explorers and Food Beyond Settlements

Overland in van Dieman’s Land

From Sea and Overland in the Southeast of Terra Australis

Discovering Felix Australis

Explorations of the Western Parts of the Continent

Journeys to the Centre

Reaching the Limits of the Frontiers of Taste

Bibliography
Contents

Part III  Food and the Making of Modern Australian Cuisine

9  Australian National Cuisine: Beyond the Frontiers of Taste
   Food Sovereignty and Food Security
   Ecological and Cultural Sustainability
   Scalability
   Commercialization of a Concept
   Edibility and Taste
   Some Final Thoughts
   Bibliography

181
185
189
194
196
202
205
206
Frontiers of Taste
Food Sovereignty, Sustainability and Indigenous-Settler Relations In Australia
Ma Rhea, Z.
2017, XV, 208 p. 33 illus., 17 illus. in color., Hardcover