Part I  Researching Lesson Observation: Aims, Contexts and Theory

1 Introduction .............................................. 3
  Accountability and Performativity in the Global Tertiary Education Sector .............................................. 3
  Aims and Rationale for This Book .............................................. 7
  About the Author: Insider Researcher .............................................. 10
  Structure of This Book .............................................. 13
  References .............................................. 15

2 Lesson Observation: Policies and Contexts ..................... 17
  Lesson Observation: Global Commercialisation ..................... 17
  Observations in New Zealand’s Education System ..................... 19
  Observations in Australian Tertiary Education ..................... 22
  Lesson Observation Policies in England: Why They Are Relevant ..................... 23
  Teaching Qualifications and FE Staff ..................... 25
  The Political Context of Lesson Observations ..................... 26
  The Historical and Sociopolitical Context of the UK FE Sector ..................... 28
  Education’s ‘Responsiveness’ to Political and Economic Needs ..................... 30
  Changes and Incorporation: Socio-Economic and Historical Contexts ..................... 31
  New Labour’s ‘Social Inclusion’ Agenda and FE ..................... 32
  Assessment and Performativity in England’s Further Education ..................... 34
  Stress and Anxiety of Graded Observations ..................... 37
  Conclusions .............................................. 40
  References .............................................. 41

3 Theoretical Concepts of Lesson Observations ..................... 47
  Introduction .............................................. 47
  A Summary of the History of Emotions in the Classroom ..................... 49
  The Emotional Labour of Observations ..................... 51
Chapter 1: The Theoretical Concepts of Bourdieu

1.1 Social, Educational and Cultural Capital

1.2 Professional Habitus and Embodied Dispositions

1.3 Field and Doxa: The Rules of the Classroom

1.4 The Potential for Tensions: Illusio

1.5 The Value of Bourdieu’s Theoretical Concepts to This Research

Chapter 2: Conclusions

Chapter 3: References

Chapter 4: Subjectivity and Objectivity in Observations

4.1 Symbolic Interactionism and Psychoanalysis

4.2 Subjectivity Versus Objectivity

4.3 Performativity and ‘Authenticity’ in Observations

4.4 Sartre and Authenticity: ‘Bad Faith’ and Shame

4.5 Psychoanalytical Perspective: Self-identity and Emotions

4.6 The Emotions of Teaching and Learning: Bourdieu and Psychoanalysis

4.7 Performativity, Power and Playfulness

Chapter 4: Methodology of the Research

Chapter 4: Conclusion

Chapter 4: References

Part II: Findings, Conclusions and Future Directions

Chapter 5: Findings from the Research Study: The Observees

5.1 Introduction

5.2 Outline of This Chapter

5.3 Introduction to Participants—‘The Teachers’

5.4 Table A: Teacher/Lecturer (Observee) Participants

5.5 Framing the Context of Observations

5.6 Rewards and ‘Hidden’ Emotional Labour in FE

5.7 Performativity, Ethics Work and Emotional Labour

5.8 Embodied Emotion and Teaching in FE

5.9 Psychoanalytical Concepts

5.10 Anxiety and Stress in Observations

5.11 Feelings of Shame

5.12 Teachers Seeking Recognition

5.13 The Emotional Labour of Professional Habitus

5.14 Conclusion

5.15 References

Chapter 6: Findings from the Research Study: The Observers

6.1 Introduction

6.2 Introduction to the Managers: ‘The Observers’

6.3 Table B: Manager (Observer) Participants

Chapter 6: Conclusion

Chapter 6: References
Emotional Labour and Lesson Observation
A Study of England's Further Education
Edgington, U.
2017, XVIII, 226 p. 2 illus., Hardcover
ISBN: 978-981-10-2989-9