Conflict of Interest Disclosure Form

The policy of The Journal of Headache and Pain is aimed at assuring independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in the Journal. Authors are expected to reveal any possible conflict of interest that may be related to the subject matter of the article. This involves affiliations with pharmaceutical companies, biomedical device manufacturers or other corporations whose products or services may be associated with the subject matter of the article or who have sponsored the study.

The purpose of the policy is not to prevent authors with a potential conflict of interest from publication. It is merely intended that any potential conflict should be identified openly so that the readership will be able to formulate impartial evaluations about the article, with the full disclosure of the facts.

The corresponding author will complete and submit this form to the Editor-in-Chief on behalf of all authors listed below.
