Football Research in an Enlarged Europe

SERIES EDITORS:

Albrecht Sonntag, Professor and Director of the EU-Asia Institute at the ESSCA School of Management, France

David Ranc, Assistant Professor at the EU-Asia Institute at the ESSCA School of Management, France

This series will publish monographs and edited collections in collaboration with a major EU-funded FP7 research project 'FREE': Football Research in an Enlarged Europe. The series aims to establish Football Studies as a worthwhile, intellectual and pedagogical activity of academic significance and will act as a home for the burgeoning area of contemporary Football scholarship.

The themes covered by the series in relation to football include, European identity, Memory, Women, Governance, History, the Media, Sports Mega-events, Business and Management, Culture, Spectatorship and Space and Place. The series will be highly interdisciplinary and transnational and the first of its kind to map state-of-the-art academic research on one of the world's largest, most supported and most debated socio-cultural phenomena.
