It is the policy of the International Urogynecological Association (“IUGA”) and the International Urogynecology Journal to ensure balance, independence, objectivity and scientific rigor in all submissions to the International Urogynecology Journal. A potential for bias may exist if the author(s) are affiliated with or has a financial interest in any organization(s) that may have a direct interest in the subject matter of the manuscript submitted. Situations involving potential bias are not inherently problematic or unethical, but the prospective reader must be made aware of the affiliation or financial interest. It is intended that any potential bias be identified openly so that the reader is provided full disclosure of the facts and may form their own judgments about the manuscript’s content.

An “affiliation/financial interest” includes, but is not necessarily limited to: (1) shareholding >US$10,000 (direct purchaser of stock), (2) acceptance of paid travel expenses or honoraria (such as speaker’s bureau), or (3) acceptance of payment for research (4) consultant (5) holding a position of influence in another professional association/society.

Please disclose in the table below any conflicting material interests or commitments based on the following:

Author or Relationship (TYPE or PRINT)	Compensation (Yes or No) must select one	Designation (1, 2, 3, 4 or 5 as stated above)	Company or Board, etc.

Please check here and sign below if based on the criterion listed above and on behalf of all the authors, you have no disclosures to report.
