Primates
Editor-in-Chief: T. Matasuzawa

► Provides a forum for the investigation and elucidation of all aspects of primates
► Embraces work in all fields of biological investigation such as behavior, socio-ecology, learning and cognition, social processes, systematics, evolution, and medicine
► Is the world’s oldest primatology journal, founded by Kinji Imanishi
► Is the official journal of the Japan Monkey Centre published in cooperation with the Primate Society of Japan

To celebrate the 60th anniversary of the Japan Monkey Centre in 2016, we established a new annual prize: Primates Social Impact Award. Please read the announcement with the original video provided by the first winner showing the behaviors of chimpanzees. http://link.springer.com/10.1007/s10329-016-0592-5

Primates is an international journal of primatology whose aim is to provide a forum for the elucidation of all aspects of primates. The oldest primatological journal, Primates publishes original papers that advance the scientific study of primates, and its scope embraces work in diverse fields covering biological bases of behavior, socio-ecology, learning and cognition, social processes, systematics, evolution, and medicine. Contributions relevant to conservation of natural populations and welfare of captive primates are welcome. Studies focusing on nonprimate species may be considered if their relevance to primatology is clear. Original Articles as well as Review Articles, News and Perspectives, and Book Reviews are included. All manuscripts received are initially screened for suitability by members of the Editorial Board, taking into account style and ethical issues, leading to a swift decision about whether to send the manuscript for external review.

The Editor-in-Chief is Tetsuro Matsuzawa, Kyoto University.

Color figures are free in print and online

No publication charge for authors

The new cover of Primates features a young male chimpanzee named Jeje walking along a human trail toward the observers.

Impact Factor: 1.202 (2017), Journal Citation Reports®

On the homepage of Primates at springer.com you can ► Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
► Get to know the complete Editorial Board
► Find submission information