The Review of International Organizations

Editor-in-Chief: A. Dreher

- ▶ Covers the entire field of political economy, with a focus on the policies and structure of international organizations
- ▶ Gives priority to papers that put forward a new theory and provide a rigorous empirical test of this theory
- ▶ Provides a wide-ranging forum for an international readership in economics and political science
- ▶ Free app available on iTunes and Google Play Store

The Review of International Organizations publishes original scientific contributions in the entire field of political economy, with a focus on the policies and structure of international organizations, such as the WTO, World Bank, NATO, WHO, the European Court of Human Rights, and the UN. The journal includes studies based on modern economic, political economic, and international relations theories, using quantitative or qualitative methods. Papers should ideally put forward a new theory and provide a rigorous empirical test of this theory, but the RIO allows for a trade-off between the two.

The RIO features a comment section where it invites comments to articles published in the Review of International Organizations and elsewhere. Replication is particularly encouraged.

The RIO aims for a quick turnaround. In 2015, the average number of days between the date the manuscript was received and the first decision was 29 days, excluding desk rejections and special issues, while the maximum time was 86 days. The RIO checks data and program files of empirical papers prior to publication.
