Yearbook of Corpus Linguistics and Pragmatics

Series Ed.: J. Romero-Trillo

The Yearbook of Corpus Linguistics and Pragmatics addresses the interface between these disciplines and offers a platform to scholars who combine both research methodologies to present rigorous and interdisciplinary findings about language in real use. Corpus linguistics and Pragmatics in the past represented two paths of scientific thought, parallel but often mutually exclusive and excluding. Corpus Linguistics, informed by mathematics and statistics, offers a meticulous methodology. Pragmatics is defined by its indefiniteness in interpreting sentence meaning and intended meaning. Recent research shows that both approaches can be very useful if used complementary. Corpus linguistics studies may use pragmatics as a model for the interpretation of data and studies in pragmatics can turn to corpus linguistics for data analysis. This yearbook will give the readers insight in how they can use pragmatics to explain real corpus data and from there develop and refine its theory. This yearbook is aimed at researchers from the areas of corpus linguistics, pragmatics, sociolinguistics, language education, psycholinguistics, and theoretical linguistics. The yearbook editor invites proposals for topical sections, individual articles, and book reviews. Write to: jesus.romero@uam.es If you wish to contribute a topical section, please submit your proposal and abstracts of all papers to the Editor-in-Chief. For individual articles, the yearbook observes a double-blind peer review procedure and only accepts fully anonymized submissions. Authors are requested to remove any identifying information in order for this procedure to be followed. Please send the editor-in-chief an anonymous version of your article with a separate covering letter that contains the names, affiliations and e-mail addresses of all authors. themes are also welcome. If you wish to contribute to the volume, please submit your abstract to the Editor-in-Chief by November 2014. Write to: jesus.romero@uam.es
