

BioMed Central

Electronic access

► irishvetjournal.biomedcentral.com

Irish Veterinary Journal

Editor-in-Chief: M. Doherty

- All articles are included in PubMed, Scopus and Web of Science.
- Average time to first decision of 20 days.
- Official journal of Veterinary Ireland, the representative body for the veterinary profession in Ireland.

Publishing veterinary research that has relevance to clinical practice, Irish Veterinary Journal has a vision to disseminate knowledge that will promote optimal health and welfare of animals. The official journal of Veterinary Ireland, the representative body for the veterinary profession in Ireland, Irish Veterinary Journal has been publishing research relevant to the international veterinary profession since 1946, including papers on veterinary public health, veterinary ethics and veterinary education.

Impact Factor: 1.000 (2017), Journal Citation Reports®

Giving authors in their area of expertise the opportunity to publish open access

- High visibility thanks to unrestricted online access
- Rigorous peer-review and high-quality author services
- Creative Commons licensed – authors retain copyright
- Citation tracking and inclusion in bibliographic databases
- Easy compliance with open access mandates

