Deputy Editor-in-Chief: H.M. Bolt

- Up-to-date coverage of current progress in toxicology
- Emphasizes mechanisms of toxicity, down to the molecular level
- 96% of authors who answered a survey reported that they would definitely publish or probably publish in the journal again

Archives of Toxicology provides up-to-date information on the latest advances in toxicology. The journal places particular emphasis on studies relating to defined effects of chemicals and mechanisms of toxicity, including toxic activities at the molecular level, in humans and experimental animals. Coverage includes new insights into analysis and toxicokinetics and into forensic toxicology. Review articles of general interest to toxicologists are an additional important feature of the journal.
