International Communication of Chinese Culture

Editor-in-Chief: H. Huang

- ▶ Focused on Chinese culture and its contribution to the world
- ▶ Attracts interdisciplinary articles and presents current thinking
- ▶ Promotes originality, significance, clarity and academic rigor

ICCC is a cross-disciplinary journal in the areas of China Studies, Communication, and Cultural Studies. The journal is committed to publishing high-quality research on the analysis, communication, perception and representation of Chinese culture within China and in the world. ICCC invites authors to submit original research articles and provide new critical perspectives on what constitutes Chinese culture, how Chinese culture has taken shape in various forms and through different means and media, and its interactions and exchanges with other cultures in both historical and contemporary contexts. Manuscripts on other related areas are also welcomed. ICCC also features cultural critiques, reports, and book reviews. ICCC publishes in English. All articles will be single-blind peer-reviewed.
