

European Journal of Mathematics

Editor-in-Chief: F. Bogomolov

Managing Editor: T. Sworowska

- ▶ Devoted to become a home for current mathematical research and a useful forum for discussion of future studies spanning the field

The European Journal of Mathematics (EJM) is an international peer-reviewed journal that publishes research papers in all fields of mathematics. It also publishes research-survey papers intended to provide nonspecialists with insight into topics of current research in different areas of mathematics. The journal invites authors from all over the world. All contributions are required to meet high standards of quality and originality. EJM has an international editorial board.
