Contemporary Political Theory

Editor: T. Carver; S.A. Chambers; M. Ferguson; J. Martin; A. Valls

Main editors: J. Repo; K. Zivi; J. Grant

- ▶ Promotes lively engagement with topics in contemporary global politics
- ▶ Spans topics from analytical philosophy to the cultural construction of political theory
- ▶ Covers women's and gender studies, cultural studies; literary theory and more

This journal presents the best work from the wide array of interests that constitute 'contemporary political theory,' from post-structuralist thought to analytical philosophy, from feminist theory to international relations theory, from philosophies of the social sciences to the cultural construction of political theory itself.

Founded in the UK in 2002, Contemporary Political Theory (CPT) quickly established itself in the top rank of peer-reviewed journals in political theory and philosophy. The journal is now based in both the USA and UK, and reaches out to authors and readers in Europe, Asia and Oceania.

Coverage reaches beyond philosophy and political science to include relevant research in geography and anthropology; women's studies and gender studies; cultural studies and economics; literary theory and film studies; and more.

Contemporary Political Theory offers a challenging and eclectic mix of articles that inspire new consideration of what political theory is and does, and promotes lively engagement with contemporary global politics.
