Editor-in-Chief: A. Maeda

- ▶ Goes beyond issues of efficiency to discuss fairness and equality
- ▶ Offers both academic papers and studies reflecting current debate

The International Journal of Economic Policy Studies, IJEPS, aims at developing economic policy studies. The journal offers comprehensive coverage of both applied economics and multidisciplinary policy studies. IJEPS seeks applied economic studies that are rich in policy implications, based not only on reliable economic models but also on robust econometric analyses. It also encourages multidisciplinary studies that focus on policy-making process and policy implementation and deployment. In addition to economic science, the methodology includes methods in law, political science, sociology, psychology, behavioral science, and other social sciences. Studies of economic thought and history as a foundation of policy making are also within the scope of the journal.
