International Journal of Digital Humanities

Editor-in-Chief: G. Palkó

- The journal offers reviewed articles for academics and practitioners with a focus on digital humanities.

The International Journal of Digital Humanities is a peer-reviewed academic journal with a focus on digital media and the development, application and reflection of digital research methodology in the Humanities. It is concerned with the history, current practice and theory of Digital Humanities. The journal publishes original research articles and reviews on topics including, but not limited to:

- Digital cultural heritage with a special focus on born digital documents / archives
- Data visualization, information retrieval, statistical analysis, big data
- Natural language processing, named entity recognition, topic modelling, text mining
- Digital scholarly editing
- Semantic web technology, network theory
- 3D modelling, digital visualization
- Teaching Digital Humanities

On the homepage of International Journal of Digital Humanities at springer.com you can

- Sign up for our Table of Contents Alerts
- Get to know the complete Editorial Board
- Find submission information